Amendment ends public votes

Senate panel okays debt limit proposal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Senate committee approved 7-0 today a constitutional amendment that would give more flexibility to the method Ohio has traditionally used to finance public improvement construction.

The resolution, if ultimately approved by voters statewide, would repeal the state's 126-year-old $750,000 debt limit, and provide that the legislature could issue bonds under spelled out restrictions and in fixed dollar amounts.

Senate Ways and Means Chairman Robert E. O'Shaughnessy, D-15 Columbus, noted that the resolution must still be approved by the full Senate and House before it can be placed on the November ballot.

The Ways and Means panel also tabled a controversial measure to increase legislators' travel allowance from 15 cents to 18 cents a mile, for one round trip weekly to and from Columbus. The bill can be revived at a later date.

Senators returned from weekend recess Monday night but acted on no bills. The House was set for a floor session this morning, opening its activities for the week.

Slated for House consideration was a measure designed to expand Ohio's college student loan program with newly available federal loan guarantees.

Sponsors said the federal backing would mean that loans will be available in the next school year to an additional 14,000 Ohio students. The bill also hikes the amounts of certain types of loans, and makes the program available to nonresident students for the first time.

Sen. Marcus A. Roberto, D-18 Ravenna, is chief sponsor of the so-called "flexible debt" proposal.

It is the same one he steered through the House last session, while a member of that chamber, only to have it die in the Senate.

In a way, it represents a Democratic majority response to the ill-fated, $4.1 billion bond issue package GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes placed on election ballots in November 1975, without legislative approval.

The plan originated in the Ohio Constitutional Revision Commission. It has been endorsed by Democratic legislative leaders, and it received early endorsement of the Ohio AFL-CIO. The labor group suggested it in 1975 as an alternative to Rhodes' bond issue package to make Ohio "depression proof."

The most controversial feature of the new plan permits the legislature, by a two-thirds majority, to issue bonds based on a fixed percentage of the state's general revenue fund.

Proceeds from the bonds, as now, with those from voter-approved issues, would be used for public purposes such as prisons, highways, parks, office buildings and similar projects.

Roberto and other supporters claim the state should get away from a "piecemeal" approach to meeting the state's capital improvement needs, and instead should finance them continually and in an orderly fashion as revenues permit.

His measure is certain to run into opposition from fiscal conservatives who claim the $750,000 debt limit has served Ohio well over the years. Rep. Fred B. Hadley, R-79 Bryan, claimed last year it could turn Ohio into "a fiscal disaster such as New York City."

Under the plan, the state could issue bonds totaling up to eight per cent of a previous biennium's general fund revenues. However, the amount would be limited by principal and interest payments in any given year of six per cent of the fund.

First sketchy accounts about the discovery of an espionage network were confirmed Monday when India's national news agency, Samachar, reported the arrests of some senior civil servants. The news agency indicated the officials were being held for passing economic intelligence to foreigners.

One newspaper, the Indian Express, reported that two foreigners — presumably diplomatic spies — had been expelled from India as a result of what the paper said was "one of the biggest ever espionage cases" to hit the country.

The Indian sources said they knew some of the subjects by name but declined to identify them because, as far as the sources knew, no charges had yet been lodged against them.

There is no clear-cut evidence from information available here that the espionage system under investigation concerns only nuclear matters. And Indian newspapers are suggesting that the spying operation had to do mainly with the country's iron and steel industry.

ISN'T THIS MARCH? — Usually the arrival of March brings with it some signs of spring. But as Washington C.H. area residents have discovered, the unusual is to be expected this winter. In spite of all the inconveniences it created, the overnight snowfall of more than two inches provided picturesque scenery as can be seen in the above photograph. Unfortunately, the poor birds who usually frequent this bird bath will be forced to go elsewhere for their daily cleansing. Rumor has it that this isn't March at all.

Carter seeks energy department

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is asking Congress to form a new Cabinet Department of Energy that administration officials say will consolidate most of the government's existing energy programs under one roof.

Carter planned to send his request to Congress today.

The legislation would abolish the Federal Energy Administration, the Energy Research and Development Administration and the Federal Power Commission and transfer their functions to the new department, along with parts of seven other agencies that deal with energy.

James R. Schlesinger, whom Carter plans to nominate as the nation's first Secretary of Energy, said the move is a "means to coordinate" the nation's now fragmented energy policy and should not be viewed as a solution to energy shortages.

"We need both conservation and production if our energy program is to be effective," Schlesinger told a National Governors Conference luncheon on Monday as he highlighted parts of the President's program.

A key part of the plan, Schlesinger said, is that it leaves with the Interior Department the primary responsibility for leasing federal lands and the Outer Continental Shelf for energy development.

But it also gives the new agency a say on the rate at which these gas, oil and coal leases are to be issued, he said.

According to congressional sources, this represents a major compromise aimed at appeasing environmentalists in Congress who had vowed to fight any plan that stripped Interior of its leasing responsibilities.

Under the President's plan, other units in the Interior Department dealing exclusively with energy development — including four regional power authorities and parts of the Bureau of Mines, Bureau of Land Reclamation and U.S. Geological Survey — would be transferred to the new department.

It would also take in energy programs now contained in the Departments of Commerce, Housing and Urban Development, Defense and Transportation, the Security and Exchange Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In all, the proposal would consolidate 19 separate energy programs now scattered throughout the federal government, according to Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who plans to introduce the President's bill in the Senate.

Ribicoff said his Governmental Affairs Committee will begin hearings on the legislation next Monday.

Congressional sources said that issues involved in the reorganization are so complex, however, that Congress will probably take most of the year before completing work on the President's proposal.

Carter has said he also will send Congress around April 20 a comprehensive energy policy bill dealing with conservation and fuel supplies.

CBS News said Monday night it learned from authoritative sources that Carter is giving serious consideration to proposing "a tax in the range of 25 cents a gallon" on gasoline as part of that comprehensive energy policy.

Schlesinger declined to respond to an inquiry about the report.

Uganda's Amin backs off, says Americans may leave

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin retreated some more today from his confrontation with the United States. He lifted his order banning Americans from leaving Uganda after postponing for the second time the meeting to which he summoned all U.S. citizens living in his East African country.

Amin said Americans in Uganda "are now free to go anywhere they wish, such as going for holidays or going about their normal business, be it inside or outside Uganda," Radio Uganda reported.

Amin forbade the estimated 240 Americans in Uganda from leaving the country last Friday and ordered them to meet with him on Monday at the international conference center in Kampala, his capital.

During the weekly meeting was moved to the Entebbe airport, 19 miles from Kampala, and postponed until Wednesday. And on Monday Radio Uganda announced the meeting had been put off indefinitely, with a new date to be announced later.

Ugandan sources in Kampala, reached by telephone, said Amin "is keen to improve good relations with the United States." They said the delay would give the two countries "a chance to resolve their current difficulties."

Several Arab and African governments, including those of Zaire and Saudi Arabia, were reported to have urged Amin to postpone the meeting. It was believed the U.S. government asked them to intercede.

The State Department canceled plans to send diplomatic troubleshooter Talcott Seelye to Uganda.

No primary election is scheduled in Fayette County this June, unless the state legislature places amendments on the ballot and it would be considered a special election, Mrs. Jennings said.

In the general election, Stout would face John P. Case, who was appointed by Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes last August to fill the unexpired term of Robert L. Simpson on the Washington C.H. Municipal Court bench.

Mrs. Mary Jean Jennings, director of the Fayette County Board of Elections, said if no other Republican candidates file declaration of candidacy petitions with the board before a March 24 deadline, Stout would automatically be declared nominated and enter the Nov. 8 general election.

Stout, a Jeffersonville attorney, filed his declaration of candidacy petitions with the Fayette County Board of Elections Tuesday morning for the unexpired term ending Dec. 31, 1981.

The declaration of candidacy petitions filed by Stout are subject to the June 7 primary election. Stout filed for the position as a Republican.

Coffee tops marketbasket cost hikes

By JOE McKNIGHT
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coffee was the principal culprit as grocery prices around Ohio went up again last month.

Big jumps on four items in the monthly Associated Press Ohio Marketbasket survey more than offset declines on eight items and the average ended up 31 cents, or 1.4 per cent, above the previous month.

The average cost of the 16 standard grocery items checked in 16 cities was $21.89 at the end of February. This compares with an average cost of $18.34 for the same items a year ago. Two years ago the cost was $18.25.

Cost of a three-pound can of name-brand coffee averaged $8.18 among the 16 cities, up 9.6 per cent from a month earlier. A 12-ounce can of frozen orange juice increased 5.8 per cent, indicating a grocer may be getting a jump on price hikes tracing to recent freeze damage to the Florida citrus crop. Average cost of the can of juice among all reporting cities rose from 68 cents at the end of January to 72 cents at the end of February.

The marketbasket survey this month added tomatoes and lettuce to the shopping list to record produce hikes that may trace to the Florida freeze. While no comparison was available, fresh tomatoes averaged 65 cents per pound and lettuce 44 cents a head.

Other items with higher average prices were a ten-pound sack of white potatoes, up 4.3 per cent at $1.43, and one pound of store-bread bread, up 3.2 per cent at 32 cents.

Egg production apparently picked up from the severe winter months, and a dozen grade A medium whites dropped 14 per cent, from 99 cents a month ago, to 85 cents at the end of February.

Other items reported at lower prices were one pound of hamburger, down 2.3 per cent at 82 cents; chuck roast per pound, 1.8 per cent at $1.05; whole frying chicken per pound, 1.7 per cent at 5 cents; one pound of stick margarine, name brand, 7 per cent at 53 cents; five pounds of granulated sugar, 1.9 per cent at $1.02; a 49-ounce box of name-brand detergent, 1.3 per cent at $1.45; and a 14 1/2 ounce pack of chocolate chip cookies, 3 per cent at 96 cents.

No change was reported for a pound of center cut pork chops at $1.74; a half-gallon of whole milk at 77 cents; 12 ounces of peanut butter at 72 cents; and a four-roll pack of toilet tissue at 82 cents.

Cleveland took the dubious honor of highest average cost for the 16 items with a total price of $23.80, up 4.2 per cent for the month.

Lowest cost for the total grocery basket was recorded at Massillon at $18.70. Massillon's average was up 2.4 per cent from the previous month and nearby Canton, which placed a close second at $18.73, was down 3.4 per cent for the same period.

Average costs among other reporting cities were Toledo, $19.90, up 2.7 per cent; Conneaut, $21.12, up 2.7 (cq) per cent; Findlay, $21.33, down 2.7 (cq) per cent; Fremont, $22.01, down .6 per cent; Salem, $22.05, down 2 per cent; Youngstown, $22.20, up .3 per cent; Van Wert, $22.58, down .04 per cent; Athens, $22.63, down .9 per cent; Columbus, $22.91, down 1.8 per cent; Cincinnati, $22.93, up 12 per cent; Portsmouth, $23.04, up 1.2 per cent; Steubenville, $23.10, up 1.2 per cent; and Akron $23.22, up 4.9 per cent.

Opinion And Comment

Less airlines regulation

The conventional wisdom has it that arch-conservatives and devotees of laissez faire are always the ones to advocate less regulation of business. This notion is confounded in some measure by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's championing of less government interference in the airlines industry.

The Massachusetts senator has taken the lead - rightly, we think - in calling for less control over air transport operations by the Civil Aeronautics Board. He and Sen. Howard W. Cannon of Nevada have introduced a bill to this effect. They are on solid ground, as a study by the General Accounting Office indicates. And the CAB itself favors reducing its regulatory powers.

According to the GAO, less regulation during the period covered in its report would have brought substantial fare reductions. "Our study," it says, "offers reliable evidence that lines could have profitably operated at a lower cost per passenger during the six years from 1969 to 1974, resulting in lower fares and therefore savings to domestic air travelers on the order of $1.4 billion to $1.8 billion a year."

The GAO notes that "the trade-off for lower fares would have been less space for some passengers and fewer flights on some routes" - not a bad price to pay, all in all. As to the matter of cuts in service, the GAO report finds it "questionable whether many communities would lose air service if CAB regulation were reduced or discontinued."

This remains a key area of concern, which should be carefully looked into before any changes are made. It also is important, as the GAO observes, that any shift in the regulatory pattern be made gradually to minimize possible disruption of the airlines industry. In principle, however, we favor the idea of reducing CAB regulation and relying more on competitive pressures to assure air travel service at lower cost.

WASHINGTON CALLING....By Marquis Childs

Senate treated Warnke shabbily

WASHINGTON — If the stance of the Senate armed services committee is taken at face value, they are saying that anyone who believes in arms control should not be confirmed as head of the arms control agency and chief negotiator with the Soviet Union. These are men whose views are set in concrete reinforced by the Pentagon and

President Eisenhower's military-industrial complex.

That is the thrust of their opposition to kill the appointment of Paul C. Warnke to be head of arms control and try to negotiate a SALT II agreement.

They, or more likely their back-room assistants, have combed every word that Warnke has spoken or written in the hope of finding clues to his conviction that slowing the arms race through mutual and secure understanding is not impossible.

The heavy propaganda guns of the old-time hardliners have been turned on outside the committee room. The aim is to show that Warnke's call for unilateral restraint — up to a point — is a call for unilateral disarmament.

By all current tallies, their efforts are in vain. The 15 to 1 vote in the Senate foreign relations committee, which has jurisdiction, is a clear signal.

But beyond that the nose count in the Senate show that Warnke's approval will be by a vote of 70 and perhaps as high as 80.

That will frustrate the opposition, which had hoped to hold the approval vote to under two-thirds of the Senate. They had hoped for this so that, if and when an agreement should come up for ratification, the same opponents could say this is obviously invalid because it was negotiated by a man who could not gain the support of even the majority, two-thirds, necessary to ratify a treaty.

Warnke has conducted himself with a calm, straight-forward response to the heckling by committee members. The hecklers did not hesitate to distort and take out of context remarks on arms proliferation and control made by Warnke over the past eight years since he has been out of government. It has been a shabby performance from start to finish.

Not a little of the credit for the likelihood of a vote above the two-thirds goes to Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., majority whip of the Senate. He has been tireless in his efforts to bring the wavering around. And as a veteran nose-counter, long before he became whip, his figures on the totals in the final vote are to be respected.

Telephone calls from the president to key senators are also a factor. Confirmation of Warnke by a healthy majority was vital for Carter following the debacle over Theodore Sorenson to be director of the CIA. If Warnke had been forced to withdraw or had merely squeaked through, all future White House appointments would have been in jeopardy.

Wilkowski stated at the outset that his House Bill 37 was merely a vehicle that needed to be molded "by the expertise of the fine minds of this committee."

His concept would allow voters of a school district to say whether they want a specific level of income tax for education as a substitute for a like amount of real property tax.

Your Horoscope

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 2

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Interpret carefully where you sense hidden meanings. All of them are NOT deceptive; some may simply need clarification.

Taurus

(April 21 to May 21)

Stumbling blocks to progress will be indecisiveness and missed opportunity. Key yourself to deliberate smartly and quickly so that you may reach proper conclusions.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Mild influences indicate a so-so day unless you do something about it. But, in your search for more stimulating activities, don't go off on wild tangents.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Someone may try to place a burdensome imposition on you. Reject what you consider unfair, but graciously offer alternatives for handling.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Good solar influences favor innovations and clever strategies. A fine period in which to put over unusual ideas.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

A time for evaluation, to find missing links, details hidden to the casual eye, to change a course which is leading to a dead end. And to go from there!

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A first-rate period for inventiveness and bringing out dormant talents. Put your strength behind unusual projects, but only if they are truly worthwhile.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Summarize past gains and future potentials, and it will help you to plan the right moves to take early next week. Don't think in terms of the unreasonable, however.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Splendid Jupiter influences indicate expansive development, business advancement and fine opportunities for future gain.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Your emotions could get out of hand. So could any number of things become bothersome. If you permit. Stress tolerance and understanding.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Muster your best efforts for the "trying" moments — even though they may be few — and you can breeze through most of the day. Put your weight behind solid undertakings.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Set sights calculatively on your target — and aim straight! The time is ripe for getting the things you want.

YOU BORN TODAY are an alert and intelligent individual; quickly appraise situations — AND people. You know what you want and go after it in a tenacious manner. Few persons, including yourself, know your mind intimately. You seem contradictory at times, yet are clear-cut in your thinking: also discriminating. You are artistically inclined, have a retentive memory and a keen eye for details. You seldom admit defeat; are a steadfast friend, a strong opponent. Try to overcome a tendency toward excessive stubbornness.

IT MUST SEEM at times to a dispassionate observer that the whole arms control effort is an empty charade. While SALT did make some progress, the race has gone on in spite of the temporary halt on offensive weapons, which expires in October of this year.

The United States has continued to develop ever more costly and lethal nuclear delivery systems such as the Trident submarine and the B-1 bomber. And, if one believes the hard-liners, presumably the Soviet Union is keeping up with or even exceeding the American pace.

If the Warnke opposition has accomplished nothing else, it has accentuated the fear that hangs like a cloud over any attempt to abate the arms race. It is part of the irrationality of our age of unreason.

One must grant that the senators taking the hard-line position have honest opinions. But they can know about as much of the fantastically complex weapons of the last third of this century as, let's say, Amy Carter. Science has overreached mankind.

President Carter has at least a working knowledge of the atom and the submarine, thanks to his service in the Navy. That is one reason for his confidence in Warnke in the post to which he named him. And in the last analysis, the final decision on disarmament in any new agreement will come down to Carter himself.

Ohio Perspective

School income tax supported

By JOE McKNIGHT

Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The concept of a local option income tax for education has gained bipartisan support in the Ohio House of Representatives and so far there has been no strong voice against it.

Principal problems showing up during three hearings before the House Ways and Means Committee center on scope and administration.

Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, announced plans to offer such a bill last December after Toledo voters rejected a proposed school property tax levy and its schools were shut down for lack of funds. At least six other school districts across the state were also closed at the same time for the same reason.

Wilkowski stated at the outset that his House Bill 37 was merely a vehicle that needed to be molded "by the expertise of the fine minds of this committee."

His concept would allow voters of a school district to say whether they want a specific level of income tax for education as a substitute for a like amount of real property tax.

Committee members and witnesses have agreed it offers school districts an opportunity to raise new money and would not necessarily be a replacement tax.

Other bills on the same theme have followed from Reps. Robert E. Netley, R-81 Laura; James E. Betts, R-3 Rocky River, and Waldo B. Rose, R-64 Lima.

Questions the committee is now wrestling with include:

— Should such a tax be levied on both residents and nonresidents of a district;

— Should the tax be levied on business;

— Should it be collected within existing collection machinery;

— Should it be piggybacked on existing state income taxes.

— Should counties administer collection and distribution of such tax monies to participating school districts;

— How to handle such a tax in school districts which overlap county lines.

The committee last week heard strong arguments to exempt business from the education income tax.

There also were strong arguments for and against collecting the tax only on residents of a school district.

However, some products ease symptoms

Cold medicines mostly worthless, FDA study discloses

By LOUISE COOK

Associated Press Writer

Americans spend an estimated $700 million a year on nonprescription or over-the-counter cold remedies.

In an effort to discover which medicines — if any — really work, the Food and Drug Administration set up a panel of nongovernment experts who studied the labels of cold, cough, allergy, bronchodilator and anti-asthmatic drug products.

Their findings echoed what many people had been saying for years: none of the nonprescription products will prevent, cure or even shorten the course of the common cold.

The panel did find that some of the products eased the symptoms of a cold. It expressed concern, however, that there are so few single-ingredient products on the market. Combination drugs are often not necessary, the panel said, because different symptoms strike at different times, and may not be good for some people because of individual reactions to various ingredients.

Similar concern over combination products has come from other sources. Joe Graedon, a pharmacologist and author of "The People's Pharmacy," a guide to various prescription and nonprescription drugs, says: "There is almost no medical justification for products which contain so many different compounds all rolled up into one and there is reason to believe that there could be a negative effect."

Graedon also claims that an-tihistamines commonly found in cold products should not be included. Antihistamines, he says, increase and thicken the mucus already in your lungs.

The FDA panel, noting that antihistamines are valuable for providing relief from hay fever symptoms, said there is "little valid evidence" that they are effective in treating the common cold. It suggested additional testing and recommended that antihistamine labels be required to state clearly that the products are designed only for temporary relief of runny nose, sneezing, itching of the nose or throat and itchy and watery eyes, but not for nasal symptoms such as stuffy noses.

The FDA is still considering the panel's recommendations and is studying comment received from the public and industry. A proposal based on the recommendations is expected later in the year.

The study group reviewed some 90 ingredients and placed each item in one of three categories:

—Generally recognized as safe and effective and not mislabeled.

—Not generally recognized as safe and effective or mislabeled. (The government could order these products removed from the marketplace after the final FDA proposal is issued.)

—Available data insufficient to permit final classification. (The panel recommended that items in this category be allowed to stay on the market for a given length of time providing tests are conducted to answer the questions raised in the study.)

Consumers who want to know which ingredients fall in each category can send for a free fact sheet, The Common Cold. Write to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 642E, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

High prices said energy incentive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The increasing cost of Arab oil ironically will provide the only incentive for conservation and development of alternate energy sources, according to three specialists in energy policy and environmental conservation.

"The United States could live just as well on one-third to one-half the energy

it now consumes," said Russell W. Peterson, former chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality.

"Just 13 years ago, we used half as much energy (as we do now), but since then it's hardly possible we have doubled the quality of life," he said.

Peterson, president of the Washington-based organization, New Directions, participated in a symposium on energy and environmental problems at Ohio State University Monday with James E. Akins, former U.S. ambassador to Saudi Arabia, and J. Herbert Holloman, director of the Center for Policy Alternatives at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

"One of the difficulties is that rising prices are not reflected in what we pay because prices have been regulated," said Holloman, a former assistant secretary of commerce from 1962-1967. "We will continue to be wasteful of our fuel until its price is allowed to rise to normal levels.

"The question is how we can arrange our economy to give us time to develop new technology," he continued. "It isn't a research and development problem, but a question of how to change incentives so that what is produced is economic."

Holloman said projects investigating the possible use of shale oil for fuel have shown higher expenses than in purchasing oil from the Arab oil producing states.

Note 1976 unemployment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Unemployment in Ohio last year averaged 369,000, which is 7.8 per cent of the civilian labor force, the Bureau of Employment Services reported today.

Corresponding figures for 1975, a recession year, were 430,000 and 9.1 per cent.

The national unemployment rate averaged 8.5 per cent in 1975 and 7.7 per cent in 1976.

The impact of the energy crisis on 1977 unemployment should be reflected in February figures which will be available in March.

The bureau says no one has determined precisely how many layoffs this winter have been energy related. Exact statistics have been hampered because everyone laid off does not claim unemployment compensation, officials say.

However, according to bureau statistics, 73,000 claims were filed in Ohio by persons newly unemployed due to energy shortages between Jan. 17 and Feb. 19.

Unemployment benefits funded through Ohio law totaled $48.3 million in January. The amount is up 11 per cent from December but down nearly 9 per cent from January 1976. February costs are expected to run around $53 million.

Since we started the Directory Assistance charge, only about 10% of our customers have been charged.

If you remember these tips, you'll probably never be in that 10% who pay a Directory Assistance charge:

- Look in the book
- There is a monthly allowance of 3 calls to Directory Assistance anywhere in your area code. (There is no charge for calls outside your area code.) Remember, you can get 2 numbers on each Directory Assistance call.
- If a friend or business has moved recently, call the old number. An intercept operator will give you the new number at no extra charge. This service is offered for at least 45 days after a residence customer has moved and 12 months after a business has moved.

• If you regularly call unknown numbers in another city within your area code, call our business office. We'll give you the directory for that city, at no charge.

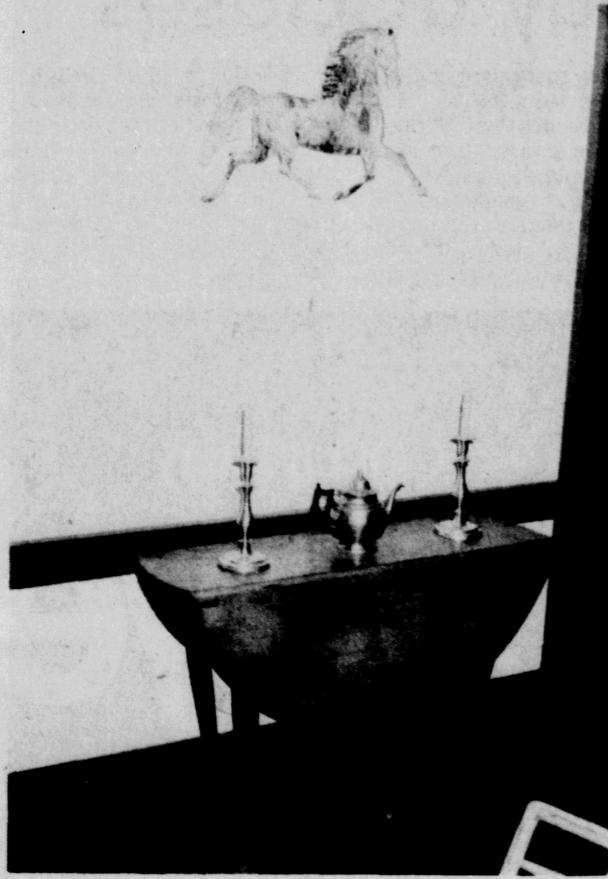

The reason for our new charge is that most of the calls to Directory Assistance are made by a very small part of the public. And most of those calls are for numbers already listed in the telephone directory. The cost of providing this service is enormous, and all of us have shared it in the past.

With the new Directory Assistance charge, those who use the service will pay for it. And that means about 10% of our customers instead of all customers.

Use your directory for assistance and save.

Firm's goal is flying flags without foulups

PARIS (AP) — The heart of Jacques Cottin, the French government's main ceremonial flag supplier, no longer beats true when he sees the red, white and blue or any other flag.

"I'm immune to all that," the stocky, 58-year-old Cottin said when asked if he got any special kick out of seeing his flags fluttering around Paris, which hosts visits by about 10 heads of state every year and displays roughly 200 flags each time. "It's a terrible routine. What I do is check to see that everything goes all right."

Most of the time everything does go all right for his firm, Maison Belloir, which has turned out more than a quarter-million flags of all nations for French government ceremonies since his grandfather founded it in 1820. But there have been near-disastrous mistakes during visits by foreign dignitaries.

"The worst one was in the early 1950s when Emperor Bao Dai came," Cottin said in an interview in his workshop near the Seine.

"We had made a flag for Ho Chi Minh's visit several years before, and when the Foreign Ministry called and said to get a Vietnamese flag out to Orly Airport for Bao Dai, the Vietminh flag went instead. Luckily we caught it in time."

Another time, during a 1961 Paris visit by President John F. Kennedy, Cottin's firm turned out 12 big American flags with two points of the five-pointed stars up instead of down. Once again the error was caught in time.

A 1960 visit by Soviet leader Nikita Khrushchev also caused problems. "We were told by telephone to take down the Soviet flags by the Tuilleries during the night so they would look fresh in the morning," Cottin said.

"My men went out about 11 p.m. and started taking them down. But they didn't have written orders, and when the cops spotted them they thought they were anti-Soviet demonstrators and arrested them. I had to go down to the precinct station and explain the situation before they turned them loose."

Cottin's "men" are two three-member teams who zip about Paris in little vans putting up, replacing and taking down his flags during official ceremonies.

The flags take anywhere from one to two weeks to make, according to the size of the order, and are turned out on heavy-duty Singer sewing machines by six to eight seamstresses.

Another 20 employees do administrative chores, as well as fold and

Fishing licenses now available

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's 1977 fishing licenses are now available at more than 4,000 locations throughout the state, the Department of Natural Resources reports.

Anyone taking fish, frogs, turtles, or mussels from Ohio waters must have a license by March 1.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUCK
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Consider: On March 15, at 8:30 p.m. PDT, Johnny Carson starts doing his "Tonight" show live at NBC's emporium in Burbank, Calif. Now consider some A.C. Nielsen Co. figures.

A comparison of the show's ratings from September 1974 to late January 1975, and from September 1976 to late January this year, shows a drop of almost two ratings points, or 1.1 million homes.

True, Carson still rules the late-night roost. The latest September-January figures — the most recent available averages, Nielsen says — have him leading second-place CBS by more than two ratings points.

But is his switch from taped to live shows an NBC move to dramatically boost those "Tonight" ratings?

No, says Robert T. Howard, head of NBC-TV, it's simply that Carson wants to do the show live as a change of performing pace. And NBC is game because it thinks it'll help the show compete better.

Howard said he doesn't think the show's ratings drop means that Carson, after 14-plus years on "Tonight," finally is slipping.

"What's happened is that the competition's really improved," he says.

He means ABC's switch 1 1/2 years ago from late-night specials to a mix of cop show reruns, movies and one special a week, and CBS' shift this season from movies to reruns of such series as "Columbo" and "Kojak."

He concedes these changes have taken some of Carson's audience, but said NBC's decision to go live with "Tonight" — which began that way in 1954 — was because Carson asked for it, not because of any ratings woe.

(Because of the time difference, when "Tonight" goes live, the West Coast still will get it on tape at 11:30 p.m. each week night.)

Carson occasionally is taken to task by critics because he gets more than 12 weeks of vacation each year and is absent Monday nights, when a guesthost fills in for him. But he may appear more often now. Those ratings tend to drop when he's off the show for extended periods.

"I think he wants to cut that down a little bit," Howard said, referring to Carson's absences from the show. He had no estimate, though, of how much the silver-haired star will reduce his absentee rate.

But he said when Carson took a month off from "Tonight" late last summer, NBC found the ratings had dropped about one point — equal to 712,000 fewer homes — "and we had a lot of complaints from our affiliates."

The ratings went back up upon his return, Howard said, but Carson subsequently felt he'd stayed away too long.

"He sets his own pace there, and he'll be taking a vacation, of course, but I don't think it'll be as long as it was last year," NBC's chief executive said in a phone interview from New York.

Conference panel gets rebate measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate conference committee weighing President Carter's tax cut and rebate plan wants the economic stimulation program to help needy Americans pay their fuel bills.

The conferees proposed such a one-shot program, costing $200 million, as part of a package of tax cuts and increased spending designed to pump up the economy over the next seven months.

A compromise budget amendment that would make room for up to $17 billion worth of tax cuts and government spending was approved Monday night and sent to the House and Senate for final consideration late this week. Once that process is complete, Congress can pass legislation to prime the sluggish economy.

The conferees' action would accommodate the program proposed by Carter, which includes $50 tax rebates or direct payments for an estimated 200 million Americans. But any alternative plan of tax cuts and spending hikes totaling $17 billion or less also could be approved as a result of the budget amendment.

The conferees gave in to the demands of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, and recommended the $200-million plan to help needy persons pay for fuel this winter.

Details of the proposal have yet to be worked out, but Muskie envisions a one-time payment of up to $250 per home, earmarked for those in greatest need in areas hardest hit by the winter.

The most expensive items in the plan are the tax rebates, an increase in the standard deduction and a tax cut for business.

U.S. sets 200-mile limit enforcement

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In the Gulf of Alaska, off the coast of New England and in waters shared with Cuba, the government today tried to enforce the new U.S. 200-mile limit on foreign fishing vessels.

The Coast Guard beefed up its staff, aircraft and vessels for the chore, and in Washington, Adm. Owen Siler, Coast Guard commandant, said, "The Coast Guard is ready and accepts the challenge."

Until today, the limit was 12 miles. Under complaints from the U.S. fishing industry that foreign fishermen were ruining their livelihood, Congress adopted the 200-mile zone and the Ford Administration a year ago approved the legislation.

There were doubts about the immediate effectiveness of the limit. "Most fishermen are all the same. If they think they can beat you, they'll cross the line a little," said fisheries agent Ken Creamer.

Creamer is one of 11 National Marine Fisheries Services agents responsible,

In addition, the economic stimulus plan envisioned by the budget conferees would include $3.5 billion in direct federal spending to create jobs between now and Sept. 30, when fiscal 1977 ends.

The package is more than $1 billion above what Carter recommended. Congressional economists estimate that enactment of the plan would result in a 6 per cent growth in the economy this year and a drop in unemployment from the current 7.3 per cent to 7 per cent.

The program would raise federal spending this year to $417.5 billion, or $69.8 billion above expected revenues.

In addition to the tax cuts and special fuel-bill aid, here is how the budget conferees propose to spend the stimulus over the next seven months:

-$700 million for public-service jobs, such as in hospitals and jails. The number of such jobs would rise from the current 310,000 to 600,000 over the next seven months and to 725,000 in 1978.

-$60 million for the job opportunities program, which involves 12-month jobs on local economic development projects.

-$400 million more to start construction on such public works projects as schools and hospitals.

-$700 million for special employment training and jobs targeted for young and old Americans, who are hardest hit by unemployment.

-$500 million for construction of recreation facilities, railroads and highways.

-$925 million in special aid to help offset tax revenues lost by states, cities and counties because of the sluggish economy and bad weather.

along with the Coast Guard, for enforcement along the Alaskan coastline — the nation's largest and richest fishery.

In Boston, Daniel Russ, a Commerce Department official in charge of enforcement from Canada to North Carolina, said he still was waiting for instructions about issuing permits to foreign vessels before they can fish inside the limit.

The government's first task is stopping for two months all foreign fishing off the Pacific Northwest, except for tuna. It also must limit foreign fishing in the North Atlantic to only hake and squid, for the time being, and halt all fishing in the Gulf of Mexico where no countries have applied for licenses.

Japan, South Korea, Spain and the Common Market nations already have signed agreements to allow their fishermen to get permits from the Commerce Department, but Congress must still approve them.

Six persons were found guilty of driving while intoxicated charges in Washington C.H. Municipal Court Monday.

William A. Lankford, 28, Mount Sterling, received a $600 fine, a 10-day jail sentence, and a one-year drivers license suspension, on a driving while intoxicated charge. He was arrested by Ohio Highway Patrol officers Feb. 10 while driving on U.S. 35.

Warren L. Offutt, 37, Annapolis, Md., was also arrested by Ohio Highway Patrol officers for driving while intoxicated. He posted and forfeited a $500 bond.

The other four other persons found guilty of the driving while intoxicated charges received the minimum $200 fine, three days in jail, and 30-day license suspension. They were Robert Gene Curtis, 40, of 1119 Washington Ave.; Herbert R. Merritt, 34, Greenfield; Raymond E. Jackson, 38, of 535 Columbus Ave.; and Roland O. Day, 44, Brady Lake.

The four also received fines on related charges. Curtis was fined $50 for driving left of center, Merritt was fined $150 for driving without a license, Jackson was fined $25 for a traffic light violation, and Day was fined $50 for reckless operation.

A number of other traffic court cases were heard by Municipal Court Judge John P. Case Monday.

Brown sets Israeli trip

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William J. Brown starts a 10-day "educational tour" of Israel Thursday.

Brown's office says he will meet with government officials, visit historic sites and exchange ideas about the American and Israeli systems of justice.

"It's not costing us (the state) a dime," Brown said. The trip is sponsored by the National Association of Attorneys General and will be paid for by the Israeli government.

Attorneys general or their representatives from 21 other states also will be on the tour. Accompanying Brown will be his chief counsel, Richard Walinski.

Among the activities planned for the state legal officers are a meeting with Israeli ministers of justice and defense, a tour of Jerusalem and Bethlehem, tree-planting in the American bicentennial forest, speaking engagements at Hebrew University and a visit to a collective farm.

State government streamline bill co-sponsored by McEwen

COLUMBUS — State Representative Bob McEwen (R-77th District) is co-sponsoring a bill in the Ohio House of Representatives this week aimed at streamlining state government through an ongoing review of state agencies, boards, and commissions.

The bill is the so-called "sunset legislation," in which state agencies would be reviewed to determine if the agency should be renewed, abolished or combined with another agency.

Representative McEwen was the only legislator to introduce sunset legislation in the 11th Ohio General Assembly.

Unlike similar proposed sunset legislation in this session, this bill does not exempt any agencies from review of their public usefulness on a seven-year cycle. Agencies which could not be abolished because of constitutional roots would still be subject to review.

This bill also calls for a bi-partisan review committee composed of legislators and members appointed by Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes.

After its review, the joint committee would make recommendations to the Ohio General Assembly in the form of legislation, which must be acted upon within a year to save the agency from termination.

"The time has passed when Ohioans can afford hundreds of legislative solutions, in the form of agencies, boards and commissions, to answer a few dozen problems. Our resources to fund these bodies are dwindling and we must gorse a governmental tool to help control duplication, conflict and inefficiency in state government," McEwen said.

Thieves hit Glenn home

CLEVELAND (AP) — A disconsolate Sen. John H. Glenn, D-Ohio, said burglars broke into his suburban Washington, D.C. home over the weekend and stole $30,000 worth of gold metals and silverware.

"The ones they concentrated on were gold," Glenn said in Washington of the theft of scores of medals he was awarded for his 1962 space flight. "You just don't replace things like that."

Ruppert faces suit

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Wrongful death suits totalling $682,500 have been filed against James U. Ruppert, Hamilton, now serving 11 life sentences for the shooting deaths of 11 members of his family on Easter Sunday, 1975.

The suits were filed by the administrators of the estates of Mrs. Charity Ruppert; her son, Leonard; his wife, Alma, and their eight children.

Court officials said the suits were normal procedure since Ruppert's case remains pending in the 1st Ohio District Court of Appeals.

Court officials said the suits seek to prevent Ruppert from inheriting insurance money for the victims if his case were reversed.

Ruppert, arrested at the Hamilton home after telephoning police, pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity before a three judge panel in

Butler County Common Pleas Court in July, 1975.

The prosecution maintained the motive for the mass slayings was to inherit insurance money.

Fire report probed

The Washington C.H. Fire Department was called to the Ned Stives residence, 328 Peabody Ave., at 1:21 p.m. Monday.

Firemen reported that a television in the home had short circuited and was smoking. The television was disconnected and no fire damage was sustained.

Kiwanis members view movie

The Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club viewed a film regarding the U.S. free enterprise system at the regular weekly dinner meeting Monday night in the Terrace Lounge.

Club member Harold Vail arranged for the film which was shown following the business portion of the meeting.

During the business meeting, club president Tom Mossbarger presented a report from Kiwanis International which indicated that girls are now eligible to become members of Kiwanis Key clubs.

DP&L workers hold meet

A total of 105 workers have resigned from membership in the Utility Workers of American Union during the strike against the Dayton Power and Light Co.

Harold Moats, union president, told a gathering of union members from the Washington C.H. and Wilmington districts Monday that of the 105 who have resigned from the union, only 65 have reported back to work.

Moats said the 105 workers who have resigned from the union since the strike opened on Jan. 10 are from throughout the entire 24-county service area of the Dayton Power and Light Co.

It was also reported by Moats that no meetings are scheduled between the union and the Dayton Power and Light Co. He said it is possible that an AFL-CIO Union representative will intervene.

The meeting between striking union members from the Washington C.H. and Wilmington districts was held in the Wilmington American Legion hall.

March began on a white note as snow moved into the southwestern corner of Ohio early today. Snow was expected to cover the state today with the most significant amounts in the south.

Snowfall generally will accumulate one inch or less with southern counties getting one to two inches. Cincinnati had three inches of snow at daybreak.

Most of the snow was expected to melt off this afternoon with temperatures climbing into the 30s to the mid 40s. Lows tonight will be 15 to 25 degrees under generally clear skies.

Fair skies are expected to return Wednesday with little improvement in temperatures.

Showers are expected to move into Ohio Thursday and Friday, accompanied by temperatures moderating to the 40s and 50s.

El Salvador under state of siege

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Central America's smallest nation was under a state of siege today after troops and police routed thousands of demonstrators demanding a new presidential election.

Authorities said at least five persons were killed and 78 wounded.

President Arturo Armando Molina's right-wing government said a special session of the national legislature approved the government's proclamation of the state of siege late Monday after a week of demonstrations in San Salvador, the capital.

Some individual rights were suspended, and persons accused of espionage, subversion and rebellion will be subject to military trial, the broadcast said.

Tens of thousands mustered by the government's center-left opponents occupied San Salvador's central plaza from last Tuesday until early Monday, charging large-scale vote fraud in the presidential election Feb. 20 deprived Col. Ernesto Claramount Rozeville of the National Opposition Union of victory.

The government said its candidate, Gen. Carlos Humberto Romero of the National Conciliation party, won 812,281 votes to 394,661 and denied the fraud charges.

Troops and police using machine guns, automatic rifles, tear gas and water jets cleared the plaza early Monday. One witness, an American who asked not to be identified, said soldiers fired 200 to 300 shots into a crowd of young people about four blocks from the plaza after it was cleared.

The government radio said

Milk marketing rules amended

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — Federal regulations concerning milk marketing in the Ohio Valley region have been amended effective April 1, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The changes are based on public hearings that were held last May in Columbus, Ohio. They have been approved by cooperative associations representing 90 per cent of the dairy farmers in the market area, H. L.

Claramount fled to neighboring Costa Rica.

The 1972 presidential election which Molina won also ended in violence. The opposition charged vote fraud and about 100 persons were killed in an unsuccessful uprising led by the defeated Christian Democratic candidate.

The National Conciliation party has the backing of big business and landowners in this impoverished nation of 4.5 million, one of Latin America's most densely populated. The opposition coalition was supported by the labor unions and peasants.

Forest, federal dairy official, said. Major changes include allowing a dairy plant operator with more than one plant to meet regulations based on overall operations rather than by individual plants; permitting milk handlers to make direct payments to dairy farmers who are not part of a cooperative; and classification of all dairy products with less than 6.5 per cent nonfat milk solids in Class III.

Cardiac Lions run out of miracles vs. CHS

By DONNIE SMITH

Record-Herald Sports Writer
Sooner or later, it was bound to happen for the Cardiac Lions.

After winning five games where the margin of victory was three points or less, it was bound to happen that the tables would be turned on the Lions and Old Man Fate would go against them at least once. That is what happened last night as the Washington C.H. Blue Lions suffered a defeat at the hands of the Chillicothe Cavaliers, 58-55.

The Lions gave Old Man Fate plenty of help as their ability to scorch the nets, which they have done most of the season, seemed to have been left behind in the locker room as they took the court. Very poor offensive showings in the first and third quarter is what hurt the Lions. Also 23 turnovers, too many for a team that expects to win, and a below average night of shooting from the field, (21 of 52 for 40 per cent), didn't help the Lions any in their search of their 15th victory. Instead of another victory to add to their column, the Lions were forced to chalk this one up to experience and also their loss column.

Lions head Coach Gary Shaffer chose not to start his regular starting five of John Denen, Tom Dean, Dee Hart Foster, Sam McClendon, and Mark Burke. Instead Shaffer started Mike Turner, Doug Stewart, Terry Wilson, Mark Burke and Tony Tyree. Disciplinary action and a rest for the starters before Wednesday's tournament game were cited as reasons for the change by Shaffer.

The second team starters did a good job of keeping up with the Chillicothe regulars. They were only down by four at 12-8 before Jim Kerrison, the Cavaliers starting center, hit both shots of a one-and-one situation to put the Cavaliers ahead 14-8 at the end of the first period.

At the start of the second period

Shaffer inserted his regular starting team and it looked as if the Lions were going to tear into the Cavaliers. Foster and Denen both hit buckets from the outside to cut Chillicothe's lead to two at 14-12. Then a three-point-play by Kerrison and another basket by the Cavalier put Chillicothe back on top with a seven point lead. The Cavaliers managed to stretch their lead to nine points twice in the period before Denen hit a bucket at the end of the first half to put the Lions within five at half-time, 31-26.

The sectional tournament game between Miami Trace and Logan will be played at 7 p.m. Wednesday instead of the previously reported 8:30 p.m. The game will be in Athens at the Ohio University Convocation Center.

The Blue Lions will play Wednesday, also, meeting Greenfield McClain at 7:30 p.m. at Paint Valley High School in Bainbridge.

The start of the second half of play saw Chillicothe rip off eight unanswered points to take a 39-26 lead. Then the Lions scored all their points for the third period all at once as they retaliated with nine straight points of their own to make the score 39-35. A three-point-play gave Chillicothe their third quarter lead of 42-35.

In the fourth period the Lions came to life as they outscored Chillicothe, 20-16.

Washington managed to battle back from a nine point deficit at 48-39 to make the game a three point contest when Foster hit both shots of a one-and-one to make the score 56-53. After a Cavalier missed the first shot of a one-and-one Denen pulled the rebound down and Foster hit a shot from the outside to cut the Cavalier's margin to one at 56-55.

With 43 seconds showing on the clock the Lions had the ball and a chance to win the game. After working for the open shot for almost 35 seconds, a Cavalier intercepted a Lion pass and killed all chances for a Lion last second victory. An intentional foul to stop the clock cost the Lions two points and thus gave the final score for the evening with the Lions on the short end of a 58-55 scoreboard.

Shaffer commented after the game that "The reason we lost the game is turnovers, and a very poor third quarter." Shaffer continued "Sure I hate to lose a game but this one doesn't upset me that much. Right now our team goal is to win the sectional; that's our top priority. I want to win the section even more than I want to win the SCOL crown. We, as a team feel this way. Besides the league champ won't be decided until after our sectional tournament anyway."

Denen was the leading scorer for the night as he hit five field goals and seven foul shots to end up with 17 points. Denen also scraped the boards clean 16 times as he was also the leading rebounder for the night. Foster was the only other Lion to land in double figures as he ended up with 12 points. Carl Hitchens was the leading scorer for the Cavaliers as he was hot from the field scoring 16 points, all on field goals. Kerrison was right behind Hitchens as he accounted for 15 points.

The Lions are now 15-3 overall, including their win over Vinton County in the first round of the sectional tournament being held at Paint Valley. Their next game is Wednesday night in the second round of the tournament when they play SCOL rival Greenfield. Starting time for the game is 7:30 p.m.

WCH reserves earn hard-fought win

The Washington C.H. Blue Lion reserve team upped its overall record to 10-6 with an impressive 50-43 win over a much taller Chillicothe team.

The Lions jumped on top of the Cavaliers at the very beginning of the game and never let up. Their two point lead of 8-6 at the end of the first half when they held a 22-12 lead. The end of the third period saw the Lions still holding a 10 point lead at 32-22.

Tom Bath of Washington shared scoring honors for the night with James Lynch of Chillicothe. Both players had 12 points. Steve Pritchett was the only other Lion in double figures as he had 11 points. Chillicothe landed one other player in double figures and that was Joe Benson who had 10 points.

Pritchett also had 13 rebounds and seven assists to go with his points for the evening. Dennis Dunn also had 12 rebounds for the Lions.

The Lions have one game remaining and that is with the Wilmington Hurricane on Mar. 8. Starting time for the reserve game that evening will be 6:30 p.m.

AP releases final cage poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Barberton, West Lafayette Ridgewood and Morral Ridgedale have the "paper" Ohio high school basketball championships.

Now they have to prove their No. 1 rankings in The Associated Press state poll in postseason tournament eliminations.

All were impressive winners Monday in the final regular season balloting by a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Defending state tournament champion Barberton, unbeaten the last two seasons and 18-0 this winter, won the Class AAA poll title by 56 points over No. 2 Columbus Linden-McKinley, 180 and an Ohio semifinalist in 1976.

Ridgewood, also 18-0, grabbed the Class AA honors by 44 points over runnerup Tiltonsville Buckeye South, another unbeaten regular season power.

Ridgedale, once beaten in 17 regular season games, scored by 35 points over No. 2 Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South, 16-2 and the defending champion in the small school ratings.

Class AAA Canton McKinley and AA Delphos St. John's won the other 1976 poll crowns.

Ridgewood, from Coshocton County, finished second in last year's ratings while Ridgedale, a Marion County school, was No. 8 among the small schools.

The first eight in AAA held their positions with Elyria finishing third, Lebanon fourth, Warren Western Reserve fifth, Dayton Roth sixth, Springfield South seventh and Cleveland East Tech eighth.

East Tech already has been ousted in tournament play, but the ratings are based on regular season play only.

Bay Village Bay, with an 18-0 season, took over No. 9 in AAA while another new face, 16-2 Grove City, occupied 10th.

In AA, Columbus Mifflin held onto third, followed by Cleveland Latin, Wheelersburg, Bellefontaine, East Palestine, Columbus St. Charles, Coshocton and Akron South.

Just as in AA, there were no newcomers in the A rankings with Versailles keeping third and Richmond Dale Southeastern fourth.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Here's how a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters ranks Ohio high school basketball teams in The Associated Press last weekly poll with final regular season won-lost records (10 points to 1 point for 10th):

What do you say to a basketball team that died?

By KEN RAPPORTE

AP Sports Writer

"I told them that they set basketball back 25 years," said Tulane's Roy Danforth after watching his players score only nine points in the first half against Marquette Monday night.

Marquette's Al McGuire also had something to say to his players after they scored only 25.

"I think both teams were thinking about something else," McGuire said.

The tempo picked up considerably after intermission, but still McGuire did not find anything artistic in his team's 63-44 triumph over Tulane.

"I think we were looking ahead to the last two games, against Creighton and Michigan, and they were looking ahead to the Metro-7 tournament," said McGuire.

McGuire's 19th-ranked Warriors are hopeful of a bid to the NCAA playoffs, and can establish their credentials with victories over their final two opponents. One more triumph would provide McGuire with a 20-victory season, something he has made a habit of at Marquette.

Danforth's players will have to do better than they did Monday night if they want to make the NCAA party. The Green Wave only hit three of 24 shots in the first half.

Two other ranked teams were in action Monday night. Second-rated

Kentucky defeated Mississippi State 77-64 and No. 12 Alabama nipped Vanderbilt 78-77.

Bo Ellis scored 26 points in Marquette's victory. Ellis got 14 points in the first half, outscoring Tulane all by himself by intermission. In the second half, Tulane could not get any closer than 10 points, 29-19. At this point, the Warriors ran off 10 straight, clinching the victory.

Rick Robey scored 19 points and James Lee 14, leading Kentucky past Mississippi State in a Southeastern Conference game. The Wildcats were aided considerably when Mississippi State's Riky Brown and Kay White fouled out with more than seven minutes to play.

T.R. Dunn scored 18 points, pacing Alabama over Vanderbilt in another SEC game. Alabama led most of the way, but had to hold off a furious rally by the Commodores at the end. Meanwhile, Old Dominion won its 21st straight game and 24th in 26 starts with a 79-72 decision over Stetson behind Ronnie Valentine's 27 points; Bruce King scored 28 points and collected 15 rebounds as Iowa defeated Indiana 80-73, and Larry Bird equaled his school record with 47 points, leading Indiana State to an 80-65 decision over Butler.

Also, Steve Grant scored 26 points as Manhattan upset Seton Hall 92-81 and earned a berth in the ECAC's Metro Area playoffs; Ken Horroh had eight free throws in the final two minutes, helping St. Francis, Pa., beat Georgetown 94-87; Mike Mitchell's 26 points powered Auburn past Mississippi 97-84 and Michigan State edged Ohio State 80-79 as Bob Chapman pored in a career-high 29 points.

In first-round games of the Missouri Valley Conference playoffs, West Texas State defeated Tulsa 96-81 behind Melvin Jones' 29 points and Drake beat Bradley 80-73 as Terry Benka converted nine free throws in the final three minutes.

Hurricane bows from tournament

The SCOL-leading Wilmington Hurricane has the dubious distinction of becoming the first league team to drop from sectional tournament play.

The Hurricane was stopped last night by Dayton Colonel White by a score of 61-51.

Wilmington fell behind 20-11 after the first quarter, but then hit the comeback trail to get to within three points at halftime.

They were still behind by three after the third period but were then outscored 16-9 in the fourth quarter to drop the game.

Gary Williams once again led the Hurricane with 19 points while Tony Berlin and David Nared both hit double figures with 16 and 12 points, respectively.

Tony Davis was a constant thorn in the side of Wilmington all night. The 6-foot-5, 225 pounder tossed in 19 points while pulling down 14 rebounds.

Darryl Perkins hit 18 points for Colonel White and Phil Dukes hit 14 tallies.

And an expensive one, too

By WILL GRIMESLEY
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — Forty-odd years ago a pretty, fresh-faced Norwegian names Sonja Henie whirled and pirouetted to three Olympic figure skating championships and landed smack on Hollywood's silver screen.

Americans were just surfacing from a terrible depression. It was only natural they should find an antidote in Sonja's movies — a boy-girl love story staged in a "Winter Wonderland" setting with lilting music.

Teen-agers sighed. Fathers experienced a quickened heart beat. Mothers gushed — and then went out and bought a pair of $4.50 skates for their daughters.

That's the way the figure skating boom exploded in the United States, producing in later years — in addition to a trio of men's stars — gold medalists such as Tenley Albright, Carol Heiss, Peggy Fleming and, most recently, Dorothy Hamill.

In living rooms the country over, one can envision doting mothers, vowing, "I want my Suzie to be another Dorothy Hamill."

It is a wild and almost impossible dream. Of all competitive sports, the road to an Olympic gold medal in figure skating — and the treasure chest that lies at the end of it — is the most demanding and the most costly.

Exclusive of the hundreds of hours — five to six a day — spent in training, it's estimated that it cost Dorothy around $20,000 in the final year alone en route to her triumph at Innsbruck.

This was documented recently in the 632-page report of the President's Commission on Olympic Sports. Expenses for one world class figure skater for 1976-77 was placed at $30,500.

No one is more conscious of the elusiveness of the Olympic gold medal than Miss Hamill herself, daughter of a well-to-do company executive in Riverside, Conn., who had to do some belt-tightening to keep Dorothy on the ice.

After signing a $300,000 contract with Clairol, said in the trade to be the biggest ever for a TV commercial, Miss Hamill confided to a friend, Rhonda

Racz, how much more fortunate she had been than some of her contemporaries.

"There should be a way for those with less money to get a chance to be a world class and Olympic figure skater," she said.

The idea was put to Clairol by Miss Racz, a company project director, and out of it came a plan to take figure skating to the less privileged. The company pledged a minimum contribution of $25,000 and agreed to kick back 25 cents on every label returned from a package of Dorothy's favorite hair conditioner.

This smacked of commercialism, but it was decided that the fund should be administered by the U.S. Figure Skating Association's Memorial Fund, doled out to deserving talent on a local level.

This is the procedure recommended by the President's Commission — hands off the U.S. Olympic movement by the government, more participation by the nation's corporations.

That's the way Dorothy wants it, too.

REMEMBER HOW

TO PLAY PEEK-A-BOO

Anyone that lives out of Washington C. H. very far has had an experience not only getting out of the driveway, but going out any road (much like riding a bob-sled) and reaching an intersection must play Peek-A-Boo many times. Lots of fun!!! Well . . . we may just as well enjoy what we are doing, at least try. Have you thought about a large lot for building your new home where Mother Nature is one of your neighbors? Have you given Clairemont Village a thought? Plan now . . . Build later . . . It won't always be this way, as you should plan for better days ahead.

Mule race betting eyed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Last year a mule won the coast-to-coast Great American Horse Race. Now a group of muleteers from Bishop wants pari-mutuel betting on mules.

Bishop, population 3,700 on the east side of the Sierras near the Nevada border, holds an annual Mule Day Celebration on the Memorial Day weekend.

Last year 40,000 spectators showed up, mostly to watch the parade in which 400 to 450 mules moved through town mostly frontwards — but sometimes backwards and sometimes sideways.

Bishop mule promoter Robert Tanner says, "Mule racing is pretty exciting in that it is a little unpredictable."

Assemblyman Larry Chimbole, D-Palmdale, was persuaded to introduce a bill in the state legislature last week that would allow experimental pari-mutuel mule racing for five years, starting in 1978.

Mules are the offspring of male donkeys and female horses.

Will Surgery Correct Snoring?

I've been told that the only way to cure my snoring is to have an operation on my nasal septum. I can't get a guarantee from the surgeon. I want to explore every other avenue for relief. Do you have any suggestions? — Mr. D.S., Wash. Dear Mr. S.:

Ear, nose and throat specialists all agree that it is a rarity to ever see a perfectly straight septum. The nasal septum, composed of bone and cartilage, separates one side of the nose from the other.

A slight curve of the septum is almost always present. Unless there is a marked deviation of the septum that compresses vital parts of the nasal tissues, surgery is not routinely suggested.

It is true that, in some instances, snoring may be attributed to the shape of the septum. This is not common, however. This is undoubtedly why your doctor will not "guarantee" that the snoring will disappear following surgery.

I would suggest that you try other approaches first. Allergies, palate disorders, excessive dryness of the air in the bedroom, and positions during sleep may be contributing factors.

Opening lead — five of diamonds.

There are plays a declarer may find it very difficult to make, even though these plays are demonstrably correct. For example, take this deal where West led a diamond against three notrump. Declarer followed low from dummy, losing the finesse to East's king. Back came a low heart, South following low to try to retain an entry to his clubs.

East's best return, a heart, avails him naught. Declarer goes up with the ace, plays a diamond to the ace, leads the jack of clubs and finesse. Even though West refuses the jack and wins the next club with the king, South is on solid ground. He still has the jack of diamonds as an entry to his hand and the best the defenders can do is score two hearts, a diamond and a club.

Did you ever shoot color slides at an ASA of 1000? This gives you a flexibility that can yield great pix at indoor events, night scenes outdoors, night shots around home without flash, stage shows, school events, and in the classroom. You can get this ASA 1000 speed by using GAF 500 and push processing the stuff yourself, or just bring it in and we'll send it in with the proper instructions. It will cost you an extra buck. You can also shoot High Speed Ektachrome at ASA 1000 if you soup it yourself.

There is a new family of Ektachrome films being introduced this year. We have the new Professional Ektachrome, both 64 and 160, in the 36 exposure rolls. Either of these professional films may be used with the ESP mailers, but ESP only doubles the ASA for these new films. We've seen a bunch of beautiful stuff shot with the new Ektachromes and we're impressed with the quality and color rendition. I hope to shoot some myself this week.

We've been told that an old friend, Ektachrome X, will be off the market within the next few months. We'll miss this splendid film and the vivid colors, but we've been assured that the new film will be even better. Let's wait and see.

Officers investigate two minor accidents

Two minor traffic accidents were reported by area law enforcement agencies Monday. There were no injuries reported.

At 8:30 a.m. Monday, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department investigated a single-car mishap on Interstate 71.

A car driven by Helen T. Eller, 26, of Columbus, reportedly slid on ice in the northbound lane of I-71 and struck an overpass bridge.

Blanchester man may win freedom

CINCINNATI (AP) — Larry C. Florea, the Blanchester, Ohio, mechanic who was back in uniform after claiming the U.S. Army lost his records for 6 1/2 years "could very well" get an honorable discharge without a court martial, an Army spokesman said.

"The average guy that has been gone 6 1/2 years doesn't have a defense," said Maj. Jerry Gant, a Fort Knox information officer said by telephone. But, he said, "this man has got a defense. He could very well get an honorable discharge."

Florea, 26, father of three, said he applied for a discharge to be eligible for a Veterans Administration (VA) loan. He was told by the Defense Department to surrender to Wright-Patterson AFB last Tuesday where he was arrested, transported to Fort Knox and held as a prisoner on a charge of being absent without leave (AWOL).

Florea spurned a military offer of a discharge other than honorable even though he has since learned he did not have the required 180 days of active duty to be eligible for the VA loan.

Florea, and his lawyer, Jerry Bryant, Wilmington, Ohio, maintain the Army lost Florea's records when he was transferred in 1971 to Fort Eustis, Va. Florea said he was sent home to await further orders and tried for 18 months to clarify his status. Finally, he quit trying, got married and went to work.

Gant said Florea may be released later this week on leave without pay. He collected no military salary during the 6 1/2 years he was home.

Bryant said he is gathering depositions from people who accompanied Florea when he made several trips to military installations trying to resolve his military status during 1970 and 1971.

The Army spokesman had said Florea had an obligation to resolve the issue long ago.

Municipal

Court

Four persons were found guilty of check fraud Monday in Washington C.H. Municipal Court. Judge John P. Case levied fines and jail sentences on all four.

James R. Hoover, 37, Bloomingburg, received a $30 fine and a 10-day jail term. Jerry Brady, 22, of 603 Elm St., was fined $20 and sentenced to 10 days in jail. Gregory M. Smith of Springfield was fined $30 and sentenced to 15 days in jail. Carol Arney, 26, Greenfield, was fined $20.

All the jail terms were suspended pending the payment of the bad checks.

Judge Case also fined Raymond H. Rinehart, 20, of 6813 Milledgeville-Octa Road, $30 and court costs, on a disorderly conduct by intoxication charge.

ADC rolls rise during February

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Aid to Dependent Children welfare rolls in Ohio increased in February after dropping steadily for almost a year. Kwegyir Aggrey, Ohio Department of Public Welfare director, reports.

Aggrey attributes the increase to severe weather conditions, the energy crisis and job lay-offs.

He says the total number of ADC recipients was 571,263 in February, compared to 567,103 in January. The rolls had been dropping since hitting a peak of 597,391 in March 1976.

Louisiana upsets Dole

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the returns came in from Louisiana on election night and Democrat Jimmy Carter carried the state, Sen. Robert Dole told friends the game was over for the Republican ticket.

Louisiana was one of the Deep South states the Republicans thought they could carry. And when they didn't, Dole knew that, come January, he'd still be a senator from Kansas rather than vice president.

Apparently the memory of that loss still haunts Dole.

Sen. J. Bennett Johnston of Louisiana was testifying before the Senate Agriculture Committee the other day about problems of rice growers in his state.

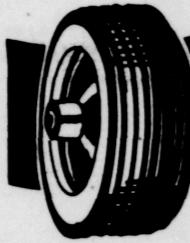

"Down in Louisiana," Johnston started to say.

Dole interrupted him: "Oh, yes. Louisiana. I was down there a couple of times last year. I can't remember why, now. It's just as well."

Amendment ends public votes

Senate panel okays debt limit proposal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Senate committee approved 7-0 today a constitutional amendment that would give more flexibility to the method Ohio has traditionally used to finance public improvement construction.

The resolution, if ultimately approved by voters statewide, would repeal the state's 126-year-old $750,000 debt limit, and provide that the legislature could issue bonds under spelled out restrictions and in fixed dollar amounts.

Senate Ways and Means Chairman Robert E. O'Shaughnessy, D-15 Columbus, noted that the resolution must still be approved by the full Senate and House before it can be placed on the November ballot.

The Ways and Means panel also tabled a controversial measure to increase legislators' travel allowance from 15 cents to 18 cents a mile, for one round trip weekly to and from Columbus. The bill can be revived at a later date.

Senators returned from weekend recess Monday night but acted on no bills. The House was set for a floor session this morning, opening its activities for the week.

Slated for House consideration was a measure designed to expand Ohio's college student loan program with newly available federal loan guarantees.

Sponsors said the federal backing would mean that loans will be available in the next school year to an additional 14,000 Ohio students. The bill also hikes the amounts of certain types of loans, and makes the program available to nonresident students for the first time.

Sen. Marcus A. Roberto, D-18 Ravenna, is chief sponsor of the so-called "flexible debt" proposal.

It is the same one he steered through the House last session, while a member of that chamber, only to have it die in the Senate.

In a way, it represents a Democratic majority response to the ill-fated, $4.1 billion bond issue package GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes placed on election ballots in November 1975, without legislative approval.

The plan originated in the Ohio Constitutional Revision Commission. It has been endorsed by Democratic legislative leaders, and it received early endorsement of the Ohio AFL-CIO. The labor group suggested it in 1975 as an alternative to Rhodes' bond issue package to make Ohio "depression proof."

The most controversial feature of the new plan permits the legislature, by a two-thirds majority, to issue bonds based on a fixed percentage of the state's general revenue fund.

Proceeds from the bonds, as now, with those from voter-approved issues, would be used for public purposes such as prisons, highways, parks, office buildings and similar projects.

Roberto and other supporters claim the state should get away from a "piecemeal" approach to meeting the state's capital improvement needs, and instead should finance them continually and in an orderly fashion as revenues permit.

His measure is certain to run into opposition from fiscal conservatives who claim the $750,000 debt limit has served Ohio well over the years. Rep. Fred B. Hadley, R-79 Bryan, claimed last year it could turn Ohio into "a fiscal disaster such as New York City."

Under the plan, the state could issue bonds totaling up to eight per cent of a previous biennium's general fund revenues. However, the amount would be limited by principal and interest payments in any given year of six per cent of the fund.

ISN'T THIS MARCH? — Usually the arrival of March brings with it some signs of spring. But as Washington C.H. area residents have discovered, the unusual is to be expected this winter. In spite of all the inconveniences it created, the overnight snowfall of more than two inches provided picturesque scenery as can be seen in the above photograph. Unfortunately, the poor birds who usually frequent this bird bath will be forced to go elsewhere for their daily cleansing. Rumor has it that this isn't March at all.

Carter seeks energy department

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is asking Congress to form a new Cabinet Department of Energy that administration officials say will lodge most of the government's existing energy programs under one roof.

Carter planned to send his request to Congress today.

The legislation would abolish the Federal Energy Administration, the Energy Research and Development Administration and the Federal Power Commission and transfer their functions to the new department, along with parts of seven other agencies that deal with energy.

James R. Schlesinger, whom Carter plans to nominate as the nation's first Secretary of Energy, said the move is a "means to coordinate" the nation's now fragmented energy policy and should not be viewed as a solution to energy shortages.

"We need both conservation and production if our energy program is to be effective," Schlesinger told a National Governors Conference luncheon on Monday as he highlighted parts of the President's program.

A key part of the plan, Schlesinger said, is that it leaves with the Interior Department the primary responsibility for leasing federal lands and the Outer Continental Shelf for energy development.

But it also gives the new agency a say on the rate at which these gas, oil and coal leases are to be issued, he said.

According to congressional sources, this represents a major compromise aimed at appeasing environmentalists in Congress who had vowed to fight any plan that stripped Interior of its leasing responsibilities.

Under the President's plan, other units in the Interior Department dealing exclusively with energy development — including four regional power authorities and parts of the Bureau of Mines, Bureau of Land Reclamation and U.S. Geological Survey — would be transferred to the new department.

It would also take in energy programs now contained in the Departments of Commerce, Housing and Urban Development, Defense and Transportation, the Security and Exchange Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In all, the proposal would consolidate 19 separate energy programs now scattered throughout the federal government, according to Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who plans to introduce the President's bill in the Senate.

Ribicoff said his Governmental Affairs Committee will begin hearings on the legislation next Monday.

Congressional sources said that issues involved in the reorganization are so complex, however, that Congress will probably take most of the year before completing work on the President's proposal.

Carter has said he also will send Congress around April 20 a comprehensive energy policy bill dealing with conservation and fuel supplies.

CBS News said Monday night it learned from authoritative sources that Carter is giving serious consideration to proposing "a tax in the range of 25 cents a gallon" on gasoline as part of that comprehensive energy policy.

Schlesinger declined to respond to an inquiry about the report.

Uganda's Amin backs off, says Americans may leave

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin retreated some more today from his confrontation with the United States. He lifted his order banning Americans from leaving Uganda after postponing for the second time the meeting to which he summoned all U.S. citizens living in his East African country.

Amin said Americans in Uganda "are now free to go anywhere they wish, such as going for holidays or going about their normal business, be it inside or outside Uganda," Radio Uganda reported.

Amin forbade the estimated 240 Americans in Uganda from leaving the country last Friday and ordered them to meet with him on Monday at the international conference center in Kampala, his capital.

During the weekend the meeting was moved to the Entebbe airport, 19 miles from Kampala, and postponed until Wednesday. And on Monday Radio Uganda announced the meeting had been put off indefinitely, with a new date to be announced later.

Ugandan sources in Kampala, reached by telephone, said Amin "is keen to improve good relations with the United States." They said the delay would give the two countries "a chance to resolve their current difficulties."

Several Arab and African governments, including those of Zaire and Saudi Arabia, were reported to have urged Amin to postpone the meeting. It was believed the U.S. government asked them to intercede.

The State Department canceled plans to send diplomatic troubleshooter Talcott Seelye to Uganda.

Amin's initial orders presumably were prompted by condemnations of his regime by President Carter and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance following reports that the Anglican archbishop of Uganda had been murdered after his arrest for allegedly plotting against him and that Amin was massacring members of two Christian tribes. Amin also charged that the United States, Britain and Israel were planning to drop paratroopers into Uganda to support a plot to overthrow him.

After the detention order last Friday, U.S. officials expressed fears or the

Stout files GOP petitions

Jeff attorney seeking local judgeship post

Gary Creamer Stout, 8692 Creamer Road, has announced his candidacy for the position of Washington C.H. Municipal Court judge.

Stout, a Jeffersonville attorney, filed his declaration of candidacy petitions with the Fayette County Board of Elections Tuesday morning for the unexpired term ending Dec. 31, 1981.

The declaration of candidacy petitions filed by Stout are subject to the June 7 primary election. Stout filed for the position as a Republican.

Mrs. Mary Jean Jennings, director of the Fayette County Board of Elections, said if no other Republican candidates file declaration of candidacy petitions with the board before a March 24 deadline, Stout would automatically be declared nominated and enter the Nov. 8 general election.

No primary election is scheduled in Fayette County this June, unless the state legislature places amendments on the ballot and it would be considered a special election, Mrs. Jennings said.

In the general election, Stout would face John P. Case, who was appointed by Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes last August to fill the unexpired term of Robert L. Simpson on the Washington C.H. Municipal Court bench.

GARY C. STOUT

Judge Case, 67, has filed petitions as an independent candidate for the Municipal Court judgeship. The former Fayette County Common Pleas Court judge will automatically enter the race.

Americans in India spy ring?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several Indian officials suspected of passing nuclear and industrial secrets to foreigners are under arrest in their own country and one source says Americans may be involved.

State Department, and U.S. embassy officers in New Delhi, declined all comment, citing President Carter's statement last week that the administration will not discuss live security issues.

Foreigners involved in the case were not identified, but one Indian source said, "Probably they are Americans."

The Indian officials were arrested in early February and have been undergoing weeks of intensive interrogation, sources say. There was no official announcement from the New Delhi government about the arrests.

First sketchy accounts about the discovery of an espionage network were confirmed Monday when India's national news agency, Samachar, reported the arrests of some senior civil servants. The news agency indicated the officials were being held for passing economic intelligence to foreigners.

One newspaper, the Indian Express, reported that two foreigners — presumably diplomatic spies — had been expelled from India as a result of what the paper said was "one of the biggest ever espionage cases" to hit the country.

The Indian government did not identify the two who were expelled and U.S. officials refused comment when asked if they were Americans.

Those arrested by the Indian Intelligence Bureau were said to include a senior assistant to Foreign Minister Y. B. Chavan, who had access to top-secret documents; one senior and two lower-ranking members of the State Planning Commission, and other personnel familiar with Indian industrial, economic and state planning programs.

The Indian sources said they knew some of the subjects by name but declined to identify them because, as far as the sources knew, no charges have yet been lodged against them.

There is no clear-cut evidence from information available here that the espionage system under investigation concerns only nuclear matters. And Indian newspapers are suggesting that the spying operation had to do mainly with the country's iron and steel industry.

John William Fisher, 70, of 736 Van Deman St., died at 9:20 p.m. Monday shortly after being admitted to Fayette County Memorial Hospital. He had been in failing health for the past year.

Born in Wilmington, Mr. Fisher moved to Washington C.H. 22 years ago from Clinton County. He was a retired Clinton County farmer and a member of St. Colman's Catholic Church in Washington C.H.

He is survived by his wife, the former Georgia Ging; two daughters, Mrs. Ronald (Margaret Ann) Kusner, of Cleveland, and Mrs. Andrew (Mary Frances) Catanzaro, Grafton, W.Va.; three grandchildren; a brother, Emerson Fisher, of Wilmington, and three sisters, Miss Vada Fisher, of Leland, N.C., Mrs. Ruth Carter, of Atlantic Beach, Fla., and Mrs. William (Irma) Whaley, of Columbus.

Mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Thursday in St. Colman's Catholic Church by the Rev. Father David Petry. Burial will be in St. Colman's Catholic Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, Washington C.H., from 3 to 5 and 7 until 9 p.m. Wednesday. A scripture service will be held at the funeral home at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Friends who wish, may contribute to the Catholic Charities Fund.

MISS METTA A. GRAVES — Services for Miss Metta A. Graves, 82, of 213 E. Oakland Ave., were held at 3 p.m. Monday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Ralph Woford officiating.

Miss Graves, a former employee of the Sanderson Leather Goods Shop, died Thursday.

Mrs. Robert (Joyce) Zimmerman sang one hymn, accompanied by Mrs. Dorothy Giebelhouse at the organ.

Pallbearers for the burial in Washington Cemetery were Harlan Baird, Carl Kreiger, Frank Reno, Dick McLean, Kenneth Chaney and Albert Caplinger.

MISS MARIBEL ATER — Services for Miss Maribel Ater, 58, of Columbus, were held at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, New Holland, with the Rev. Richard Crosby officiating.

Miss Ater, a Columbus area school teacher, died Friday.

Pallbearers for the burial in Springlawn Cemetery, Williamsport, were Maynard Speakman, Dan Noble, Paul Zurnehly, David Weaver, William Tootle and William Weaver.

JACK E. SMALLWOOD JR. — Services for Jack E. Smallwood Jr., 30, of 3825 Washington-Waterloo Road, were held at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Dale Orihood and the Rev. John DeMent officiating.

Mr. Smallwood, an employee in the production department at Mac Tools, Inc., died Thursday.

The flag which draped the casket of the U.S. Air Force veteran, was folded by Henry Litz and Stu Gossard of the Paul H. Hughey American Legion Post 25 and presented to the wife, Donna Jean. Taps were sounded by Beth VanMeter of Washington Senior High School.

One hymn was sung by Rev. and Mrs. Dale Orihood accompanied at the organ by their daughter, Melissa.

Pallbearers for burial in Washington Cemetery were David Willis, Howard Reeser Jr., Howard Reeser, George Reeser, Steve Smallwood and Robert Shadley.

In the obituary in Thursday's Record-Herald, Mr. Smallwood's mother, the former Eloise Morgan, who is deceased, and his maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Burnard Morgan of Circleville, were omitted from survivor information submitted by the family.

Coffee tops marketbasket cost hikes

By JOE McKNIGHT
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coffee was the principal culprit as grocery prices around Ohio went up again last month.

Big jumps on four items in the monthly Associated Press Ohio Marketbasket survey more than offset declines on eight items and the average ended up 31 cents, or 1.4 per cent, above the previous month.

The average cost of the 16 standard grocery items checked in 16 cities was $21.89 at the end of February. This compares with an average cost of $18.34 for the same items a year ago. Two years ago the cost was $18.25.

Cost of a three-pound can of name-brand coffee averaged $8.18 among the 16 cities, up 9.6 per cent from a month earlier. A 12-ounce can of frozen orange juice increased 5.8 per cent, indicating a grocer may be getting a jump on price hikes tracing to recent freeze damage to the Florida citrus crop. Average cost of the can of juice among all reporting cities rose from 68 cents at the end of January to 72 cents at the end of February.

The marketbasket survey this month added tomatoes and lettuce to the shopping list to record produce hikes that may trace to the Florida freeze. While no comparison was available, fresh tomatoes averaged 65 cents per pound and lettuce 44 cents a head.

Other items with higher average prices were a ten-pound sack of white potatoes, up 4.3 per cent at $1.43, and one pound of store-bread bread, up 3.2 per cent at 32 cents.

Egg production apparently picked up from the severe winter months, and a dozen grade A medium whites dropped 14 per cent, from 99 cents a month ago, to 85 cents at the end of February.

Other items reported at lower prices were one pound of hamburger, down 2.4 per cent at 82 cents; chuck roast per pound, 1.8 per cent at $1.05; whole frying chicken per pound, 1.7 per cent at 5 cents; one pound of stick margarine, name brand, 7 per cent at 53 cents; five pounds of granulated sugar, 1.9 per cent at $1.02; a 49-ounce box of name-brand detergent, 1.3 per cent at $1.45; and a 14½ ounce pack of chocolate chip cookies, 3 per cent at 96 cents.

No change was reported for a pound of center cut pork chops at $1.74; a half-gallon of whole milk at 77 cents; 12 ounces of peanut butter at 72 cents; and a four-roll pack of toilet tissue at 82 cents.

Cleveland took the dubious honor of highest average cost for the 16 items with a total price of $23.80, up 4.2 per cent for the month.

Lowest cost for the total grocery basket was recorded at Massillon at $18.70. Massillon's average was up 2.4 per cent from the previous month and nearby Canton, which placed a close second at $18.73, was down 3.4 per cent for the same period.

Average costs among other reporting cities were Toledo, $19.90, up 2.7 per cent; Conneaut, $21.12, up 2.7 (c) per cent; Findlay, $21.33, down 2.7 (c) per cent; Fremont, $22.01, down .6 per cent; Salem, $22.05, down 2 per cent; Youngstown, $22.20, up .3 per cent; Van Wert, $22.58, down .04 per cent; Athens, $22.63, down .9 per cent; Columbus, $22.91, down 1.8 per cent; Cincinnati, $22.93, up 12 per cent; Portsmouth, $23.04, up 1.2 per cent; Steubenville, $23.10, up 1.2 per cent; and Akron $23.22, up 4.9 per cent.

Mystery solved; governor appears

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Gov. Rudy Perpich planned talks in Cleveland today with officials of Reserve Mining Co. and its parent firms and that's why he didn't show up as scheduled at the National Governors' Conference in Washington, D.C.

The governor finally shed some light on his whereabouts Monday night. Among those who were enlightened were some of Perpich's top aides.

Perpich had been scheduled to arrive in Washington Sunday for the governors' conference. He had distributed schedules showing he planned to get to Washington Sunday and return to St. Paul Wednesday. When he failed to appear, his press secretary, Bob Aronson, began calling from Washington in an attempt to learn the governor's whereabouts.

Late Sunday night, the governor called Aronson's assistant, Beth Allen, to say he had canceled the Washington trip because he had "pressing matters" to attend to somewhere in Minnesota. Meanwhile, Aronson and two other Perpich aides had gone to Washington.

In a telephone interview Monday night, Perpich laughed as he related how he had sent the aides on to Washington without him. "How are they all doing?" he asked a reporter. "Are they still waiting for me?"

He said his mission was to prepare for today's Cleveland trip. Asked where he had been staying, the governor would only say that he "had been traveling around a little bit."

As to today's meeting in Cleveland with officials of Reserve, Armcio Steel and Republic Steel, the governor said, "I don't know that there's going to be any resolution. We're just going to talk."

Stout is a graduate of Ohio Northern University, Ada, where he received a bachelor of science degree in education. He received his juris doctor (law) degree from the Pettite College of Law at Ohio Northern University.

He has resided in Fayette County for the past two years and maintains a law office at 24 S. Main St. in Jeffersonville.

During 1972-1973 Stout served as a juvenile court referee for the juvenile division of the Greene County Common Pleas Court.

Besides his Jeffersonville office, Stout maintains a law practice in Xenia. He is a member of the Ohio, Fayette County and Greene County bar associations. He is also a member of the Jeffersonville Lions Club, Jeffersonville Lodge No. 468 F&AM, Jeffersonville Chapter No. 300, Order of the Eastern Star, and St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Washington C.H.

He and his wife, Jane, have one son, Gary Creamer Stout II. Stout is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Creamer. He resides at his late grandparents' home on Creamer Road. The late Hugh Creamer served as a Jefferson Township trustee for several years.

Ronald Sears of Jeffersonville will serve as Stout's campaign chairman.

Judge Case, 330 Jupiter St., will continue to serve on the Municipal Court bench through 1977 as his appointment as interim judge expires 30 days after the general election.

The Municipal Court judgeship term began in January 1976, but Simpson resigned last July 30 to return to his native Florida and establish a general law practice.

Simpson had defeated Case by a 327-vote margin in the November 1975 general election.

Less airlines regulation

The conventional wisdom has it that arch-conservatives and devotees of laissez faire are always the ones to advocate less regulation of business. This notion is confounded in some measure by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's championing of less government interference in the airlines industry.

The Massachusetts senator has taken the lead - rightly, we think - in calling for less control over air transport operations by the Civil Aeronautics Board. He and Sen. Howard W. Cannon of Nevada have introduced a bill to this effect. They are on solid ground, as a study by the General Accounting Office indicates. And the CAB itself favors reducing its regulatory powers.

According to the GAO, less regulation during the period covered in its report would have brought substantial fare reductions. "Our study," it says, "offers reliable evidence that lines could have profitably operated at a lower cost per passenger during the six years from 1969 to 1974, resulting in lower fares and therefore savings to domestic air travelers on the order of $1.4 billion to $1.8 billion a year."

The GAO notes that "the trade-off for lower fares would have been less space for some passengers and fewer flights on some routes" - not a bad price to pay, all in all. As to the matter of cuts in service, the GAO report finds it "questionable whether many communities would lose air service if CAB regulation were reduced or discontinued."

This remains a key area of concern, which should be carefully looked into before any changes are made. It also is important, as the GAO observes, that any shift in the regulatory pattern be made gradually to minimize possible disruption of the airlines industry. In principle, however, we favor the idea of reducing CAB regulation and relying more on competitive pressures to assure air travel service at lower cost.

WASHINGTON CALLING....By Marquis Childs

Senate treated Warnke shabbily

WASHINGTON — If the stance of the Senate armed services committee is taken at face value, they are saying that anyone who believes in arms control should not be confirmed as head of the arms control agency and chief negotiator with the Soviet Union. These are men whose views are set in concrete reinforced by the Pentagon and

President Eisenhower's military-industrial complex.

That is the thrust of their opposition to kill the appointment of Paul C. Warnke to be head of arms control and try to negotiate a SALT II agreement. They, or more likely their back-room assistants, have combed every word that Warnke has spoken or written in the hope of finding clues to his conviction that slowing the arms race through mutual and secure understanding is not impossible.

The heavy propaganda guns of the old-time hardliners have been turned on outside the committee room. The aim is to show that Warnke's call for unilateral restraint — up to a point — is a call for unilateral disarmament.

By all current tallies, their efforts are in vain. The 15 to 1 vote in the Senate foreign relations committee, which has jurisdiction, is a clear signal.

But beyond that the nose count in the Senate show that Warnke's approval will be by a vote of 70 and perhaps as high as 80.

That will frustrate the opposition, which had hoped to hold the approval vote to under two-thirds of the Senate. They had hoped for this so that, if and when an agreement should come up for ratification, the same opponents could say this is obviously invalid because it was negotiated by a man who could not gain the support of even the majority, two-thirds, necessary to ratify a treaty.

Warnke has conducted himself with a calm, straight-forward response to the heckling by committee members. The hecklers did not hesitate to distort and take out of context remarks on arms proliferation and control made by Warnke over the past eight years since he has been out of government. It has been a shabby performance from start to finish.

Not a little of the credit for the likelihood of a vote above the two-thirds goes to Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., majority whip of the Senate. He has been tireless in his efforts to bring the waverers around. And as a veteran nose-counter, long before he became whip, his figures on the totals in the final vote are to be respected.

Telephone calls from the president to key senators are also a factor. Confirmation of Warnke by a healthy majority was vital for Carter following the debacle over Theodore Sorenson to be director of the CIA. If Warnke had been forced to withdraw or had merely squeaked through, all future White House appointments would have been in jeopardy.

Much was made in the attack on Warnke that having been "soft" on arms control, or so it was alleged, the Soviets thoroughly familiar with his record would take advantage of him as negotiator.

This could be argued another way. The opposition having pressed him so hard and so publicly, he will begin his task with a large measure of constraint, the hardliners in the Senate constantly breathing down his neck preparatory to attacking whatever understanding he might bring before them.

It must seem at times to a dispassionate observer that the whole arms control effort is an empty charade. While SALT did make some progress, the race has gone on in spite of the temporary halt on offensive weapons, which expires in October of this year.

The United States has continued to develop ever more costly and lethal nuclear delivery systems such as the Trident submarine and the B-1 bomber. And, if one believes the hard-liners, presumably the Soviet Union is keeping up with or even exceeding the American pace.

If the Warnke opposition has accomplished nothing else, it has accentuated the fear that hangs like a cloud over any attempt to abate the arms race. It is part of the irrationality of our age of unreason.

One must grant that the senators taking the hard-line position have honest opinions. But they can know about as much of the fantastically complex weapons of the last third of this century as, let's say, Amy Carter. Science has overreached mankind.

President Carter has at least a working knowledge of the atom and the submarine, thanks to his service in the Navy. That is one reason for his confidence in Warnke in the post to which he named him. And in the last analysis, the final decision on disarmament in any new agreement will come down to Carter himself.

Ohio Perspective

School income tax supported

By JOE McKNIGHT
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The concept of a local option income tax for education has gained bipartisan support in the Ohio House of Representatives and so far there has been no strong voice against it.

Principal problems showing up during three hearings before the House Ways and Means Committee center on scope and administration.

Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, announced plans to offer such a bill last December after Toledo voters rejected a proposed school property tax levy and its schools were shut down for lack of funds. At least six other school districts across the state were also closed at the same time for the same reason.

Wilkowski stated at the outset that his House Bill 37 was merely a vehicle that needed to be molded "by the expertise of the fine minds of this committee."

His concept would allow voters of a school district to say whether they want a specific level of income tax for education as a substitute for a like amount of real property tax.

Committee members and witnesses have agreed it offers school districts an opportunity to raise new money and would not necessarily be a replacement tax.

Other bills on the same theme have followed from Reps. Robert E. Netley, R-81 Laura; James E. Betts, R-3 Rocky River, and Waldo B. Rose, R-64 Lima.

Questions the committee is now wrestling with include:

—Should such a tax be levied on both residents and nonresidents of a district;

—Should the tax be levied on business;

—Should it be collected within existing collection machinery;

—Should it be piggybacked on existing state income taxes.

—Should counties administer collection and distribution of such tax monies to participating school districts;

—How to handle such a tax in school districts which overlap county lines.

The committee last week heard strong arguments to exempt business from the education income tax.

There also were strong arguments for and against collecting the tax only on residents of a school district.

to assert herself

DEAR ABBY: This letter is in response to HARD LESSON, the woman who bluntly turned away a lonely but unwelcome neighbor who rang her bell. LESSON later learned that the woman committed suicide after being turned away.

We agree that the situation was handled rather coldly, but we feel it is vital that this woman, as well as the rest of your readers, not feel responsible for the actions of others.

HARD LESSON had the right of privacy, and we respect her for making her wishes known. It is unfortunate that the outcome was so tragic, but the implication of the suicide was offensive to us. We assume that because you ran that letter without comment, you agree with the implication.

We are not endorsing lack of consideration, aggressiveness or lack of concern for people. But we are stressing the importance of honesty, personal responsibility and a right to meet one's own needs.

THE ASSERTIVENESS TRAINING GROUP TOPEKA STATE HOSPITAL

DEAR GROUP: You make a valid point that deserves to be shared with my readers. However, your assumption that I ran the letter without comment is incorrect. I frequently permit readers to express their views, even though they differ from mine.

DEAR ABBY: I go to the barber shop once a week. I am bald on top, and all I ever need is a little trim around the ears and a bit of clipping on the back of my neck, so it takes my barber exactly six minutes to give me a haircut. I pay the standard price, of course.

Now, the man who has a full head of hair and has saved up a month's growth takes about five times as much of a barber's time as I do, yet we both pay the same price for a haircut. Why?

I think barbers should charge according to the amount of time they spend with each customer. I would appreciate your opinion, and the opinion of others.

BALD, BOTHERING AND BEWILDERED

DEAR BALD: Considering how much a haircut (even a little trim around the ears) does for a man's morale, it's a bargain at any price. Don't split hairs.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 and have a question. Do you think pupils should have to work all day in school and then take home a load of homework to do at night?

DEAR CHEATED: That's a loaded question. How much is a "load"? The learning process can't be squeezed into a five-day, 35-hour week.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Tuesday is Tuesday, March 1, the 60th day of 1977. There are 305 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date 1781, the American Articles of Confederation were adopted, paving the way for a Federal union.

On this date:

In 1562, 1,200 French Huguenots were slain in a massacre at Vassy, France, provoking the First War of Religion in France.

In 1780, the Pennsylvania legislature passed an act abolishing slavery.

In 1867, Nebraska became the 37th state.

In 1872, Congress authorized the creation of Yellowstone National Park.

In 1932, the infant son of Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh was kidnapped from the couple's home near Hopewell, N.J.

In 1954, five Congressmen were wounded as three Puerto Rican nationalists fired wildly from the gallery of the House of Representatives in Washington.

However, some products ease symptoms

Cold medicines mostly worthless, FDA study discloses

By LOUISE COOK

Associated Press Writer

Americans spend an estimated $700 million a year on nonprescription or over-the-counter cold remedies.

In an effort to discover which medicines — if any — really work, the Food and Drug Administration set up a panel of nongovernment experts who studied the labels of cold, cough, allergy, bronchodilator and anti-asthmatic drug products.

Their findings echoed what many people had been saying for years: none of the nonprescription products will prevent, cure or even shorten the course of the common cold.

The panel did find that some of the products eased the symptoms of a cold. It expressed concern, however, that there are so few single-ingredient products on the market. Combination drugs are often not necessary, the panel said, because different symptoms strike at different times, and may not be good for some people because of individual reactions to various ingredients.

Similar concern over combination products has come from other sources. Joe Graedon, a pharmacologist and author of "The People's Pharmacy," a guide to various prescription and nonprescription drugs, says: "There is almost no medical justification for products which contain so many different compounds all rolled up into one and there is reason to believe that there could be a negative effect."

Graedon also claims that an-tihistamines commonly found in cold products should not be included. Antihistamines, he says, increase and thicken the mucus already in your lungs.

The FDA panel, noting that antihistamines are valuable for providing relief from hay fever symptoms, said there is "little valid evidence" that they are effective in treating the common cold. It suggested additional testing and recommended that antihistamine labels be required to state clearly that the products are designed only for temporary relief of runny nose, sneezing, itching of the nose or throat and itchy and watery eyes, but not for nasal symptoms such as stuffy noses.

The FDA is still considering the panel's recommendations and is studying comment received from the public and industry. A proposal based on the recommendations is expected later in the year.

The study group reviewed some 90 ingredients and placed each item in one of three categories:

—Generally recognized as safe and effective and not mislabeled.

—Not generally recognized as safe and effective or mislabeled. (The government could order these products removed from the marketplace after the final FDA proposal is issued.)

—Available data insufficient to permit final classification. (The panel recommended that items in this category be allowed to stay on the market for a given length of time providing tests are conducted to answer the questions raised in the study.)

Consumers who want to know which ingredients fall in each category can send for a free fact sheet, The Common Cold. Write to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 642E, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

High prices said energy incentive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The increasing cost of Arab oil ironically will provide the only incentive for conservation and development of alternate energy sources, according to three specialists in energy policy and environmental conservation.

"The United States could live just as well on one-third to one-half the energy

it now consumes," said Russell W. Peterson, former chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality.

"Just 13 years ago, we used half as much energy (as we do now), but since then it's hardly possible we have doubled the quality of life," he said.

Note 1976 unemployment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Unemployment in Ohio last year averaged 369,000, which is 7.8 per cent of the civilian labor force, the Bureau of Employment Services reported today.

Corresponding figures for 1975, a recession year, were 430,000 and 9.1 per cent.

The national unemployment rate averaged 8.5 per cent in 1975 and 7.7 per cent in 1976.

The impact of the energy crisis on 1977 unemployment should be reflected in February figures which will be available in March.

The bureau says no one has determined precisely how many layoffs this winter have been energy related. Exact statistics have been hampered because everyone laid off does not claim unemployment compensation, officials say.

However, according to bureau statistics, 73,000 claims were filed in Ohio by persons newly unemployed due to energy shortages between Jan. 17 and Feb. 19.

Unemployment benefits funded through Ohio law totaled $48.3 million in January. The amount is up 11 per cent from December but down nearly 9 per cent from January 1976. February costs are expected to run around $53 million.

Fermentation setup eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two scientists in Oregon are working on a new fermentation process which they say could lead to the use of straw as a high-protein animal feed, the Agriculture Department said today.

The department's Agricultural Research Service said that the process basically involves the straw being finely chopped, sprayed with a mild sulfuric acid solution and then put in a pressure cooker where it is treated with ammonia compounds before being allowed to ferment.

After fermenting for 35 hours, the straw material is removed and dried with hot air. The process was described in the March issue of "Agricultural Research," published by the agency.

"The fermented product is brown in color and has a pleasant molasses aroma," the report said. "Crude protein content in the straw has been increased from 3.1 per cent to 7 to 10 per cent. The digestibility has been increased from 32.7 to 46.6 per cent of the straw."

Developers of the process are Youn W. Han and Arthur W. Anderson, both microbiologists at Oregon State University, Corvallis.

A three-year pilot study financed by a $150,000 grant from the National Science Foundation is under way to see how cattle respond during full-scale feeding tests.

Since we started the Directory Assistance charge, only about 10% of our customers have been charged.

If you remember these tips, you'll probably never be in that 10% who pay a Directory Assistance charge:

- Look in the book
- There is a monthly allowance of 3 calls to Directory Assistance anywhere in your area code. (There is no charge for calls outside your area code.) Remember, you can get 2 numbers on each Directory Assistance call.
- If a friend or business has moved recently, call the old number. An intercept operator will give you the new number at no extra charge. This service is offered for at least 45 days after a residence customer has moved and 12 months after a business has moved.

• If you regularly call unknown numbers in another city within your area code, call our business office. We'll give you the directory for that city, at no charge.

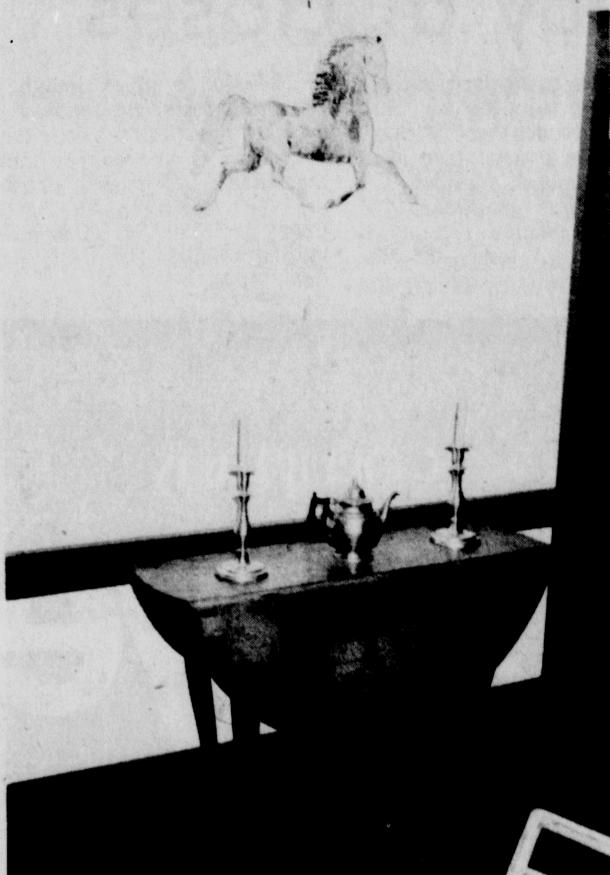

The reason for our new charge is that most of the calls to Directory Assistance are made by a very small part of the public. And most of those calls are for numbers already listed in the telephone directory. The cost of providing this service is enormous, and all of us have shared it in the past.

With the new Directory Assistance charge, those who use the service most will pay for it. And that means about 10% of our customers instead of all customers.

Use your directory for assistance and save.

'World Day of Prayer'

"World Day of Prayer", sponsored by Church Women United of Fayette County, will be held on Friday, March 4, in Saint Colman Catholic Church at 1:30 p.m. The service this year was prepared by women of German Democratic Republic and is entitled "Love in Action". The speaker for the program will be the Rev. T. Mark Dove of Grace United Methodist Church. Mr. Jeffrey Sheridan will be the organist, and Mrs. James Vess the soloist. Readers for the meditation will be Mrs. C. L. Lewellen, Mrs. Robert Pero and Mrs. Charles Hurtt. Mrs. Harmon Welty will be in charge of the offering service. This offering is one way in which Church Women United translate 'love into action' and walk with others on their journey toward wholeness.

Following the program, the 1977 officers for CWU will be installed. Because of the inclement weather, they did not have an annual meeting. The installation of new officers will be conducted by Mrs. Charles Hurtt, past CWU president. Several ladies from Saint Colman Church will act as ushers and also accept the offering.

Everyone in the community is invited.

If the Shoe Fits...

By . . .
WES COX

Measure My Feet?

Proper shoe fitting is too important to foot health to be hurried. Adults, as well as children, should take the time to have their feet measured, preferably while standing, to aid in a correct fit. The human foot is smallest in the morning, and tends to expand as the day progresses. The foot also tends to be smaller in winter than in summer. All such factors must be considered by the conscientious shoefitter. Anyone who has had the experience of having his shoes feel comfortable in the morning, then start to pinch and hurt in the afternoon, can realize what a small difference in size of either the foot or the shoe can make in one's comfort. A hat, coat, trousers can be a bit large or small - no big thing. But shoes they had better fit right!

Firm's goal is flying flags without foulups

PARIS (AP) — The heart of Jacques Cottin, the French government's main ceremonial flag supplier, no longer beats true when he sees the red, white and blue or any other flag.

"I'm immune to all that," the stocky, 58-year-old Cottin said when asked if he got any special kick out of seeing his flags fluttering around Paris, which hosts visits by about 10 heads of state every year and displays roughly 200 flags each time. "It's a terrible routine. What I do is check to see that everything goes all right."

Most of the time everything does go all right for his firm, Maison Belloir, which has turned out more than a quarter-million flags of all nations for French government ceremonies since his grandfather founded it in 1820. But there have been near-disastrous mistakes during visits by foreign dignitaries.

"The worst one was in the early 1950s when Emperor Bao Dai came," Cottin said in an interview in his workshop near the Seine.

"We had made a flag for Ho Chi Minh's visit several years before, and when the Foreign Ministry called and said to get a Vietnamese flag out to Orly Airport for Bao Dai, the Vietminh flag went instead. Luckily we caught it in time."

Another time, during a 1961 Paris visit by President John F. Kennedy, Cottin's firm turned out 12 big American flags with two points of the five-pointed stars up instead of down. Once again the error was caught in time.

A 1960 visit by Soviet leader Nikita Khrushchev also caused problems. "We were told by telephone to take down the Soviet flags by the Tuilleries during the night so they would look fresh in the morning," Cottin said.

"My men went out about 11 p.m. and started taking them down. But they didn't have written orders, and when the cops spotted them they thought they were anti-Soviet demonstrators and arrested them. I had to go down to the precinct station and explain the situation before they turned them loose."

Cottin's "men" are two three-member teams who zip about Paris in little vans putting up, replacing and taking down his flags during official ceremonies.

The flags take anywhere from one to two weeks to make, according to the size of the order, and are turned out on heavy-duty Singer sewing machines by six to eight seamstresses.

Another 20 employees do administrative chores, as well as fold and

Conference panel gets rebate measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-House conference committee weighing President Carter's tax cut and rebate plan wants the economic stimulation program to help needy Americans pay their fuel bills.

The conferees proposed such a one-shot program, costing $200 million, as part of a package of tax cuts and increased spending designed to pump up the economy over the next seven months.

A compromise budget amendment that would make room for up to $17 billion worth of tax cuts and government spending was approved Monday night and sent to the House and Senate for final consideration late this week. Once that process is complete, Congress can pass legislation to prime the sluggish economy.

The conferees' action would accommodate the program proposed by Carter, which includes $50 tax rebates or direct payments for an estimated 200 million Americans. But any alternative plan of tax cuts and spending hikes totaling $17 billion or less also could be approved as a result of the budget amendment.

The conferees gave in to the demands of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, and recommended the $200-million plan to help needy persons pay for fuel this winter.

Details of the proposal have yet to be worked out, but Muskie envisions a one-time payment of up to $250 per home, earmarked for those in greatest need in areas hardest hit by the winter.

The most expensive items in the plan are the tax rebates, an increase in the standard deduction and a tax cut for business.

U.S. sets 200-mile limit enforcement

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In the Gulf of Alaska, off the coast of New England and in waters shared with Cuba, the government today tried to enforce the new U.S. 200-mile limit on foreign fishing vessels.

The Coast Guard beefed up its staff, aircraft and vessels for the chore, and in Washington, Adm. Owen Siler, Coast Guard commandant, said, "The Coast Guard is ready and accepts the challenge."

Until today, the limit was 12 miles. Under complaints from the U.S. fishing industry that foreign fishermen were ruining their livelihood, Congress adopted the 200-mile zone and the Ford Administration a year ago approved the legislation.

There were doubts about the immediate effectiveness of the limit.

"Most fishermen are all the same. If they think they can beat you, they'll cross the line a little," said fisheries agent Ken Creamer.

Creamer is one of 11 National Marine Fisheries Services agents responsible,

In addition, the economic stimulus plan envisioned by the budget conferees would include $3.5 billion in direct federal spending to create jobs between now and Sept. 30, when fiscal 1977 ends.

The package is more than $1 billion above what Carter recommended. Congressional economists estimate that enactment of the plan would result in a 6 per cent growth in the economy this year and a drop in unemployment from the current 7.3 per cent to 7 per cent.

The program would raise federal spending this year to $417.5 billion, or $69.8 billion above expected revenues. In addition to the tax cuts and special fuel-bill aid, here is how the budget conferees propose to spend the stimulus over the next seven months:

-$700 million for public-service jobs, such as in hospitals and jails. The number of such jobs would rise from the current 310,000 to 600,000 over the next seven months and to 725,000 in 1978.

-$60 million for the job opportunities program, which involves 12-month jobs on local economic development projects.

Up to $400 million more to start construction on such public works projects as schools and hospitals.

-$700 million for special employment training and jobs targeted for young and old Americans, who are hardest hit by unemployment.

-$500 million for construction of recreation facilities, railroads and highways.

-$925 million in special aid to help offset tax revenues lost by states, cities and counties because of the sluggish economy and bad weather.

The most expensive items in the plan are the tax rebates, an increase in the standard deduction and a tax cut for business.

Traffic Court

Six persons were found guilty of driving while intoxicated charges in Washington C.H. Municipal Court Monday.

William A. Lankford, 28, Mount Sterling, received a $600 fine, a 10-day jail sentence, and a one-year drivers license suspension, on a driving while intoxicated charge. He was arrested by Ohio Highway Patrol officers Feb. 10 while driving on U.S. 35.

Warren L. Offutt, 37, Annapolis, Md., was also arrested by Ohio Highway Patrol officers for driving while intoxicated. He posted and forfeited a $500 bond.

The other four other persons found guilty of the driving while intoxicated charges received the minimum $200 fine, three days in jail, and 30-day license suspension. They were Robert Gene Curtis, 40, of 1119 Washington Ave.; Herbert R. Merritt, 34, Greenfield; Raymond E. Jackson, 38, of 535 Columbus Ave.; and Roland O. Day, 44, Brady Lake.

The four also received fines on related charges. Curtis was fined $50 for driving left of center, Merritt was fined $150 for driving without a license, Jackson was fined $25 for a traffic light violation, and Day was fined $50 for reckless operation.

A number of other traffic court cases were heard by Municipal Court Judge John P. Case Monday.

Brown sets Israeli trip

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William J. Brown starts a 10-day "educational tour" of Israel Thursday.

Brown's office says he will meet with government officials, visit historic sites and exchange ideas about the American and Israeli systems of justice.

"It's not costing us (the state) a dime," Brown said. The trip is sponsored by the National Association of Attorneys General and will be paid for by the Israeli government.

Attorneys general or their representatives from 21 other states also will be on the tour. Accompanying Brown will be his chief counsel, Richard Walinski.

Among the activities planned for the state legal officers are a meeting with Israeli ministers of justice and defense, a tour of Jerusalem and Bethlehem, tree-planting in the American bicentennial forest, speaking engagements at Hebrew University and a visit to a collective farm.

The suits were filed by the administrators of the estates of Mrs. Charity Ruppert; her son, Leonard; his wife, Alma, and their eight children.

Court officials said the suits were normal procedure since Ruppert's case remains pending in the 1st Ohio District Court of Appeals.

Court officials said the suits seek to prevent Ruppert from inheriting insurance money for the victims if his case were reversed.

Ruppert, arrested at the Hamilton home after telephoning police, pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity before a three judge panel in

State government streamline bill co-sponsored by McEwen

COLUMBUS — State Representative Bob McEwen (R-77th District) is co-sponsoring a bill in the Ohio House of Representatives this week aimed at streamlining state government through an ongoing review of state agencies, boards, and commissions.

The bill is the so-called "sunset legislation," in which state agencies would be reviewed to determine if the agency should be renewed, abolished or combined with another agency.

Representative McEwen was the only legislator to introduce sunset legislation in the 111th Ohio General Assembly.

Unlike similar proposed sunset legislation in this session, this bill does not exempt any agencies from review of their public usefulness on a seven-year cycle. Agencies which could not be abolished because of constitutional roots would still be subject to review. This bill also calls for a bi-partisan review committee composed of legislators and members appointed by Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes.

After its review, the joint committee would make recommendations to the Ohio General Assembly in the form of legislation which must be acted upon within a year to save the agency from termination.

"The time has passed when Ohioans can afford hundreds of legislative solutions, in the form of agencies, boards and commissions, to answer a few dozen problems. Our resources to fund these bodies are dwindling and we must gorge a governmental tool to help control duplication, conflict and inefficiency in state government," McEwen said.

Thieves hit Glenn home

CLEVELAND (AP) — A disconsolate Sen. John H. Glenn, D-Ohio, said burglars broke into his suburban Washington, D.C. home over the weekend and stole $30,000 worth of gold metals and silverware.

"The ones they concentrated on were gold," Glenn said in Washington of the theft of scores of medals he was awarded for his 1962 space flight. "You just don't replace things like that."

Montgomery County police said the

Ruppert faces suit

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Wrongful death suits totalling $682,500 have been filed against James U. Ruppert, Hamilton, now serving 11 life sentences for the shooting deaths of 11 members of his family on Easter Sunday, 1975.

The prosecution maintained the motive for the mass slayings was to inherit insurance money.

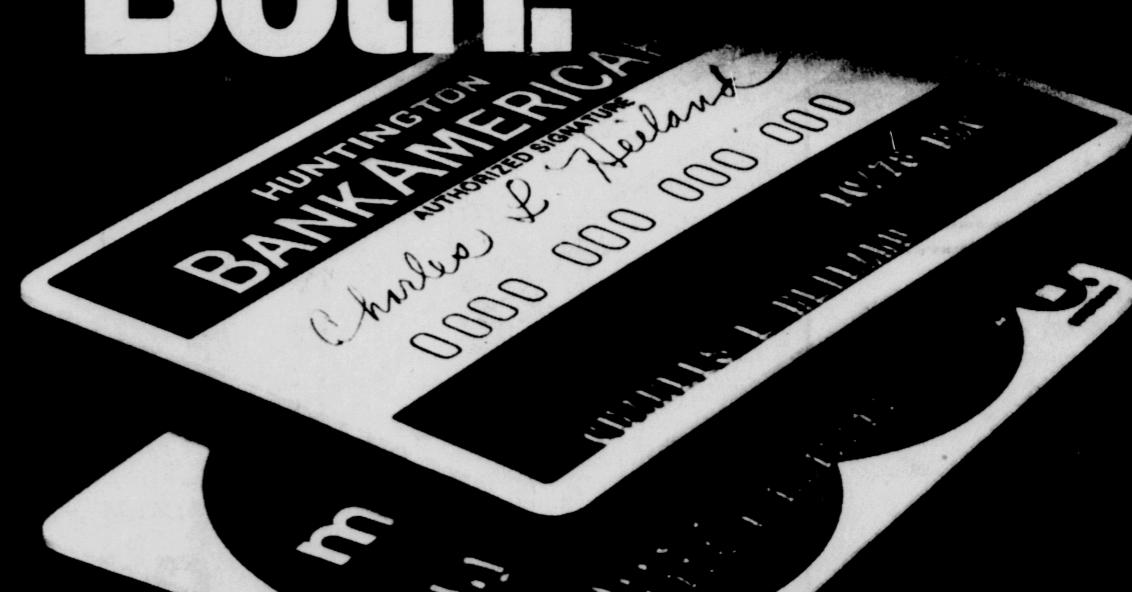

Fire report probed

The Washington C.H. Fire Department was called to the Neda Stives residence, 328 Peabody Ave., at 1:21 p.m. Monday.

Firemen reported that a television in the home had short circuited and was smoking. The television was disconnected and no fire damage was sustained.

Kiwanis members view movie

The Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club viewed a film regarding the U.S. free enterprise system at the regular weekly dinner meeting Monday night in the Terrace Lounge.

Club member Harold Vail arranged for the film which was shown following the business portion of the meeting.

During the business meeting, club president Tom Mossbarger presented a report from Kiwanis International which indicated that girls are now eligible to become members of Kiwanis Key clubs.

DP&L workers hold meet

A total of 105 workers have resigned from membership in the Utility Workers of American Union during the strike against the Dayton Power and Light Co.

Harold Moats, union president, told a gathering of union members from the Washington C.H. and Wilmington districts Monday that of the 105 who have resigned from the union, only 65 have reported back to work.

Moats said the 105 workers who have resigned from the union since the strike

A letter of appreciation was received from Susan Sands, thanking the Kiwanis Club for its support of the local American Field Service Chapter.

Mike Campbell, general chairman of the annual Teen Talent Show, said the final dress rehearsal will be held Tuesday, May 3. The show will be held Friday, May 6.

Reservations for an inter-club visit to London on March 7 were accepted by inter-club visit chairman Ken Hughes. He also explained he is planning an inter-club visit to Columbus.

March began on a white note as snow moved into the southwestern corner of Ohio early today. Snow was expected to cover the state today with the most significant amounts in the south.

Snowfall generally will accumulate one inch or less with southern counties getting one to two inches. Cincinnati had three inches of snow at daybreak.

Most of the snow was expected to melt off this afternoon with temperatures climbing into the 30s to the mid 40s. Lows tonight will be 15 to 25 degrees under generally clear skies.

Fair skies are expected to return Wednesday with little improvement in temperatures.

Showers are expected to move into Ohio Thursday and Friday, accompanied by temperatures moderating to the 40s and 50s.

Vandalism case checked

Bus assault

BRYAN, Ohio (AP) — Two persons were injured and another arrested as the result of an assault aboard a Greyhound bus Monday on the Ohio turnpike near the Indiana border.

The Highway Patrol said Marian Maliszewski, 60, of Miami, Fla., was arrested after he struck bus driver Jonathan Blackshire of Chicago, and a passenger Cleveland about five miles from the Indiana border.

Troopers said the incident apparently resulted when the driver refused to let Maliszewski off the bus at the state line. Maliszewski attacked the driver and passenger Ann Bensinger, of Dover, Del., and jumped from the bus, the patrol said.

He was apprehended by the patrol as he ran down the turnpike, troopers said. Another driver who was on the bus took over for Blackshire.

Maliszewski was taken to the Williams County jail and charged with two counts of felonious assault.

Blackshire is in satisfactory condition in Flower Hospital in Toledo.

El Salvador under state of siege

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Central America's smallest nation was under a state of siege today after troops and police routed thousands of demonstrators demanding a new presidential election.

Authorities said at least five persons were killed and 78 wounded.

President Arturo Armando Molina's right-wing government said a special session of the national legislature approved the government's proclamation of the state of siege late Monday after a week of demonstrations in San Salvador, the capital.

Some individual rights were suspended, and persons accused of espionage, subversion and rebellion will be subject to military trial, the broadcast said.

Tens of thousands mustered by the government's center-left opponents occupied San Salvador's central plaza from last Tuesday until early Monday, charging large-scale vote fraud in the presidential election Feb. 20 deprived Col. Ernesto Rozeville of the National Opposition Union of victory.

The government said its candidate, Gen. Carlos Humberto Romero of the National Conciliation party, won by 812,281 votes to 394,661 and denied the fraud charges.

Troops and police using machine guns, automatic rifles, tear gas and water jets cleared the plaza early Monday. One witness, an American who asked not to be identified, said soldiers fired 200 to 300 shots into a crowd of young people about four blocks from the plaza after it was cleared.

The government radio said

Milk marketing rules amended

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — Federal regulations concerning milk marketing in the Ohio Valley region have been amended effective April 1, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The changes are based on public hearings that were held last May in Columbus, Ohio. They have been approved by cooperative associations representing 90 per cent of the dairy farmers in the market area, H. L.

Claramount fled to neighboring Costa Rica.

The 1972 presidential election which Molina won also ended in violence. The opposition charged vote fraud and about 100 persons were killed in an unsuccessful uprising led by the defeated Christian Democratic candidate.

The National Conciliation party has the backing of big business and landowners in this impoverished nation of 4.5 million, one of Latin America's most densely populated. The opposition coalition was supported by the labor unions and peasants.

Forest, federal dairy official, said.

Major changes include allowing a dairy plant operator with more than one plant to meet regulations based on overall operations rather than by individual plants; permitting milk handlers to make direct payments to dairy farmers who are not part of a cooperative; and classification of all dairy products with less than 6.5 per cent nonfat milk solids in Class III.

Cardiac Lions run out of miracles vs. CHS

By DONNIE SMITH

Record-Herald Sports Writer

Sooner or later, it was bound to happen for the Cardiac Lions.

After winning five games where the margin of victory was three points or less, it was bound to happen that the tables would be turned on the Lions and Old Man Fate would go against them at least once. That is what happened last night as the Washington C.H. Blue Lions suffered a defeat at the hands of the Chillicothe Cavaliers, 58-55.

The Lions gave Old Man Fate plenty of help as their ability to score the nets, which they have done most of the season, seemed to have been left behind in the locker room as they took the court. Very poor offensive showings in the first and third quarter is what hurt the Lions. Also 23 turnovers, too many for a team that expects to win, and a below average night of shooting from the field, (21 of 52 for 40 per cent), didn't help the Lions any in their search of their 15th victory. Instead of another victory to add to their column, the Lions were forced to chalk this one up to experience and also their loss column.

Lions head Coach Gary Shaffer chose not to start his regular starting five of John Denen, Tom Dean, Dee Hart Foster, Sam McClendon, and Mark Burke. Instead Shaffer started Mike Turner, Doug Stewart, Terry Wilson, Mark Burke and Tony Tyree. Disciplinary action and a rest for the starters before Wednesday's tournament game were cited as reasons for the change by Shaffer.

The second team starters did a good job of keeping up with the Chillicothe regulars. They were only down by four at 12-8 before Jim Kerrison, the Cavaliers starting center, hit both shots of a one-and-one situation to put the Cavaliers ahead 14-8 at the end of the first period.

At the start of the second period

Shaffer inserted his regular starting team and it looked as if the Lions were going to tear into the Cavaliers. Foster and Denen both hit buckets from the outside to cut Chillicothe's lead to two at 14-12. Then a three-point-play by Kerrison and another basket by the Cavalier put Chillicothe back on top with a seven point lead. The Cavaliers managed to stretch their lead to nine points twice in the period before Denen hit a bucket at the end of the first half to put the Lions within five at half-time, 31-26.

The sectional tournament game between Miami Trace and Logan will be played at 7 p.m. Wednesday instead of the previously reported 8:30 p.m. The game will be in Athens at the Ohio University Convocation Center.

The Blue Lions will play Wednesday, also, meeting Greenfield McClain at 7:30 p.m. at Paint Valley High School in Bainbridge.

The start of the second half of play saw Chillicothe rip off eight unanswered points to take a 39-26 lead. Then the Lions scored all their points for the third period all at once as they retaliated with nine straight points of their own to make the score 39-35. A three-point-play gave Chillicothe their third quarter lead of 42-35.

In the fourth period the Lions came to life as they outscored Chillicothe, 20-16.

Washington managed to battle back from a nine point deficit at 48-39 to make the game a three point contest when Foster hit both shots of a one-and-one to make the score 56-53. After a Cavalier missed the first shot of a one-and-one, Denen pulled the rebound down and Foster hit a shot from the outside to cut the Cavalier's margin to one at 56-55.

So with 43 seconds showing on the clock the Lions had the ball and a chance to win the game. After working for the open shot for almost 35 seconds, a Cavalier intercepted a Lion pass and killed all chances for a Lion last second victory. An intentional foul to stop the clock cost the Lions two points and thus gave the final score for the evening with the Lions on the short end of a 58-55 scoreboard.

Shaffer commented after the game that "The reason we lost the game is turnovers, and a very poor third quarter." Shaffer continued "Sure I hate to loose a game but this one doesn't upset me that much. Right now our team goal is to win the sectional; that's our top priority. I want to win the section even more than I want to win the SCOL crown. We, as a team feel this way. Besides the league champ won't be decided until after our sectional tournament anyway."

Denen was the leading scorer for the night as he hit five field goals and seven free shots to end up with 17 points. Denen also scraped the boards clean 16 times as he was also the leading rebounder for the night. Foster was the only other Lion to land in double figures as he ended up with 12 points. Carl Hitchens was the leading scorer for the Cavaliers as he was hot from the field scoring 16 points, all on field goals. Kerrison was right behind Hitchens as he accounted for 15 points.

The Lions are now 15-3 overall, including their win over Vinton County in the first round of the sectional tournament being held at Paint Valley. Their next game is Wednesday night in the second round of the tournament when they play SCOL rival Greenfield. Starting time for the game is 7:30 p.m.

WCH reserves earn hard-fought win

The Washington C.H. Blue Lion reserve team upped it's overall record to 10-6 with an impressive 50-43 win over a much taller Chillicothe team.

The Lions jumped on top of the Cavaliers at the very beginning of the game and never let up. Their two point lead of 8-6 at the end of the first half when they held a 22-12 lead. The end of the third period saw the Lions still holding a 10 point lead at 32-22.

Tom Bath of Washington shared scoring honors for the night with James Lynch of Chillicothe. Both players had 12 points. Steve Pritchett was the only other Lion in double figures as he had 11 points. Chillicothe landed one other player in double figures and that was Joe Benson who had 10 points.

Pritchett also had 13 rebounds and seven assists to go with his points for the evening. Dennis Dunn also had 12 rebounds for the Lions.

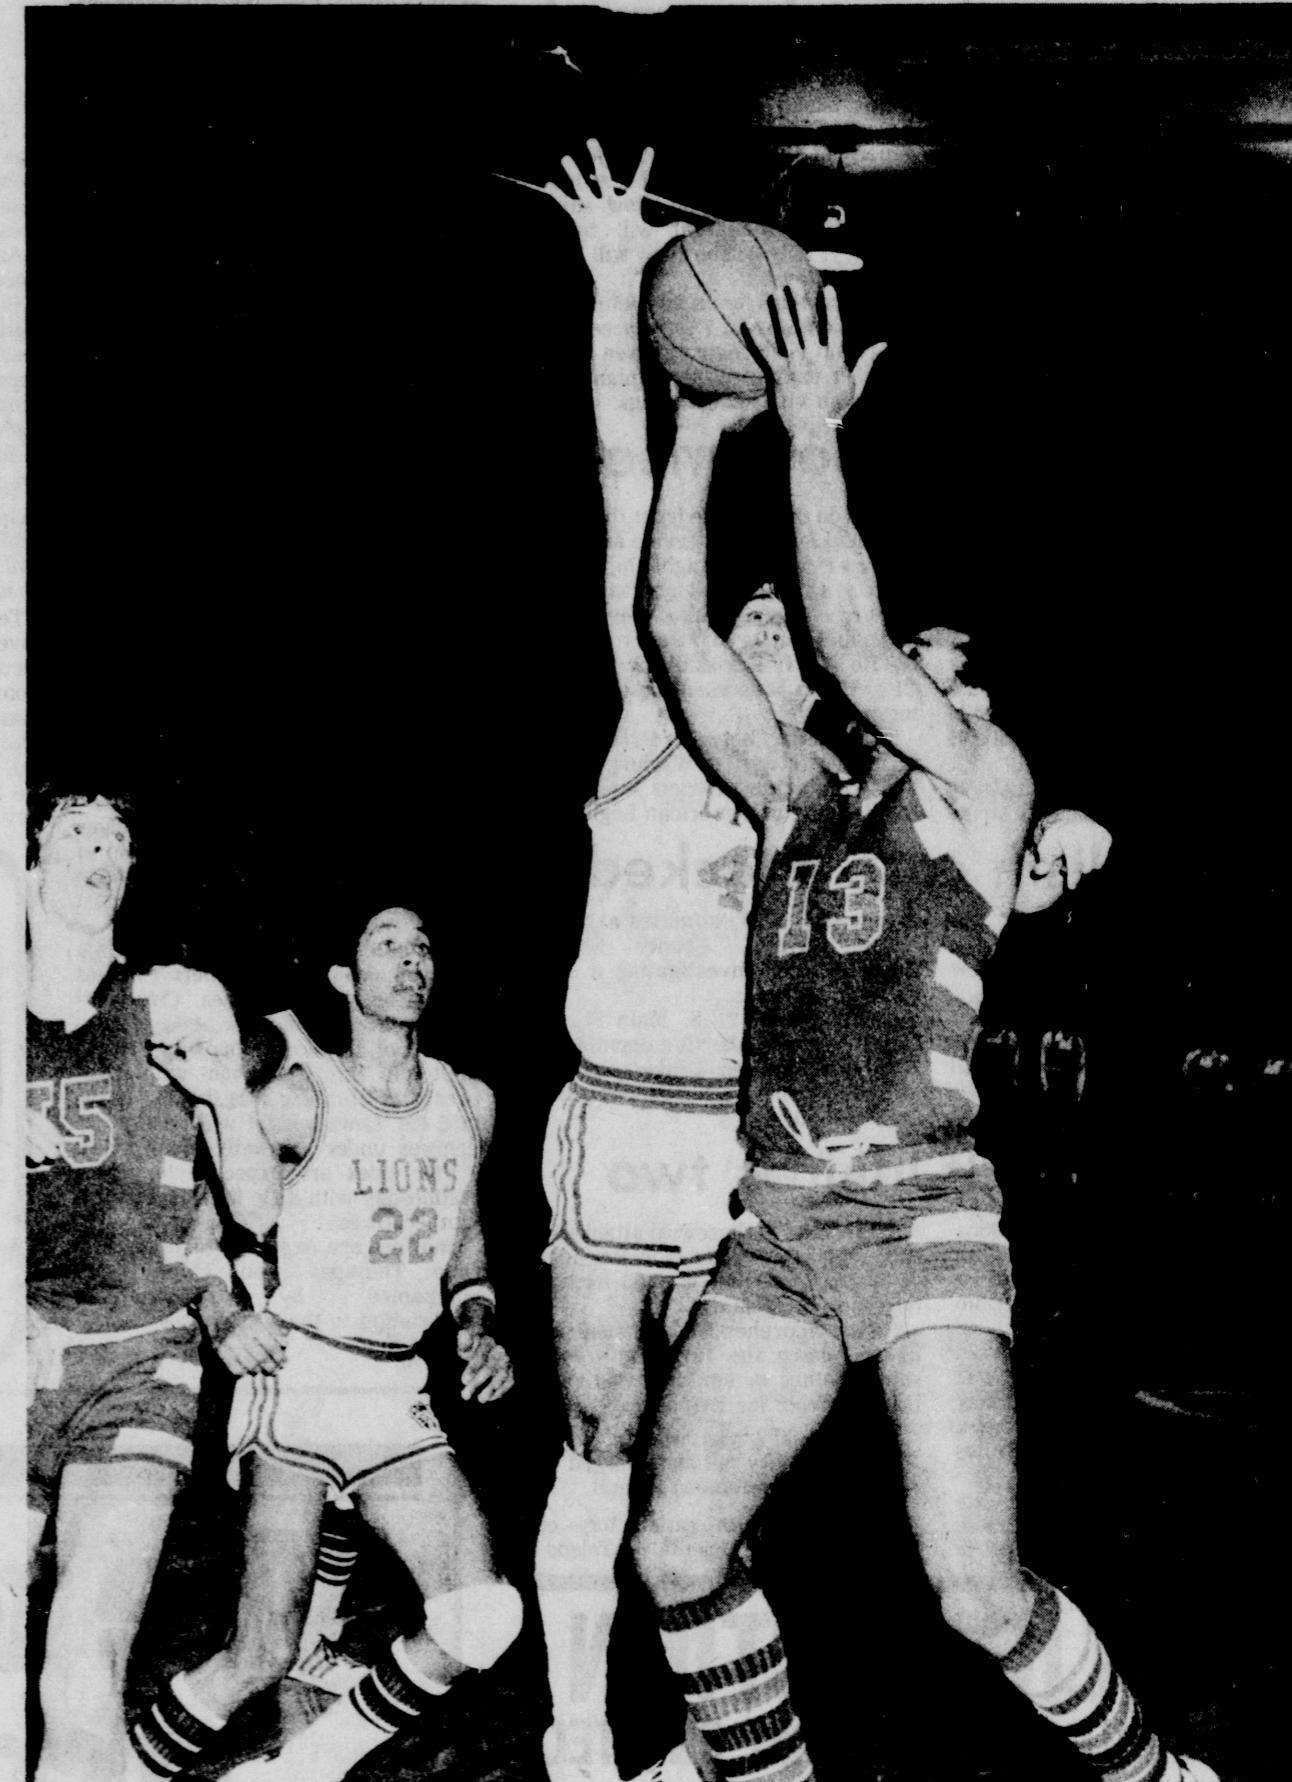

The Lions have one game remaining and that is with the Wilmington Hurricane on Mar. 8. Starting time for the reserve game that evening will be 6:30 p.m.

Muskies take OAC title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Muskingum kept the momentum rolling Monday night, dispensing with Ohio Conference basketball rival Wooster 79-63 to win a berth in the NCAA Division III Great Lakes Regional at Wittenberg this weekend.

It's the first OAC title ever for the Muskies, who thwarted Wooster's attempt to return for the laurels it received as conference champ in 1973.

Pete Liptrap had a solid 21 points in the winning effort, while Marvin Smalley added 19 as Muskingum earned a 13-3 conference record, 21-5 overall into the Great Lakes classic.

Wooster, led by George Zambie's 18 and Sam Dixon's 15, finished off the season posting records of 12-3, 20-7.

The Muskies face Ashland Friday night in the first round of the two-day Division III tourney, and they may brush elbows with the Wittenberg squad.

The Tigers, as host team, also are in the four-team field, though they were eliminated from the OAC classic in the second round.

Elsewhere in Ohio college basketball Monday night, the hard luck Ohio State Buckeyes lost to Michigan State 80-79 in a Big Ten contest. The Buckeyes trailed 80-68 with 1:59 to play, then reeled off 11 points, but fell one short after field goal by guard Larry Borden at the buzzer.

MSU guard Bob Chapman hit a career high 29 points to lead his squad, while Borden paced the Buckeyes with 21.

In the first round of the NAIA District 22 playoffs, Malone salvaged a 73-72 triumph over Findlay on a 25-foot jump shot by Tom Volarich with three seconds left. Central State easily won the right to face Malone Wednesday night, bumping Rio Grande 82-64.

James Lewis had 18 for Central State, while Jimmy Noe collected 21 for the losers.

In nonconference action, Xavier, paced by Dale Haarman with 24 and Nick Daniels' 18, turned back Wheeling 70-66. Xavier hit a season-high 58 percent from the field in a game rescheduled from early in February because of the energy shortage.

Another nonconference match saw Akron overcome Western Illinois 76-69, as freshman guard Tom Keehan came off the bench in the second half to score 10 points and spark the attack for the Zips.

Bulb Tee victor

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Bulb Tee featured eighth race at Latonia by a length in 1:16.1-5 for the 6 furlongs Monday night and paid $5.80, $4.40 and $3.60.

REMEMBER HOW

TO PLAY PEEK-A-BOO

Anyone that lives out of Washington C. H. very far has had an experience not only getting out of the driveway, but reaching an intersection must play Peek-A-Boo many times. Lots of fun!!! Well... we may just as well enjoy what we are doing, at least try. Have you thought about a large lot for building your new home where Mother Nature is one of your neighbors? Have you given Clairemont Village a thought? Plan now... Build later... It won't always be this way, as you should plan for better days ahead.

A few months ago, there was a story in this space that, while most home buyers were willing to accept smaller houses, they were showing a reluctance to purchase stripped-down models.

Since that time, similar stories have appeared elsewhere. Also, since then, I have talked to several builders, architects and others on the subject. Here are some of their comments.

From Martin Poretsky, president of Poretsky & Star, builders in Maryland and Virginia: "People are buying down from a space standpoint because they want some of the extras. For example, in our part of the country, they still insist on basements even though slabs cost quite a bit less. You know what our biggest problem is? Bureaucratic delays and zoning restrictions. I wonder how many persons know that, in most cases, about 50 per cent of the cost of building does not actually go into a house?"

From Harry Powell Jr., president of the Lehigh Building Corp., which has put up more than 4,000 houses a few miles east of Ft. Myers, Fla.: "People want to retain comfortable lifestyles no matter what the sizes of their homes. We give them some amenities regardless of the total square footage of the habitable area."

From Allen Trellis, director of technical services of the National Association of Home Builders: "People are willing to accept smaller houses in better locations. As

Will Surgery Correct Snoring?

I've been told that the only way to cure my snoring is to have an operation on my nasal septum. I can't get a guarantee from the surgeon. I want to explore every other avenue for relief. Do you have any suggestions? — Mr. D.S., Wash.

Dear Mr. H.:

Only recently, a new patient complained to me about such a salty taste. He was not taking any drugs or medicines. He was not a smoker. And there were no changes in his diet.

The only clue was that he had not had his teeth cleaned for many years. I referred him to a dentist who found enormous collections of plaque, tartar and mineral deposits beneath the gums.

When all this was cleaned out and when the gums were returned to a healthy condition, the salty taste disappeared.

If you have ruled out drugs or unusual diet you might give thought to the possibility that your teeth and gums area is the causative factor.

Mule race betting eyed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Last year a mule won the coast-to-coast Great American Horse Race. Now a group of muleteers from Bishop wants parimutuel betting on mules.

Bishop, population 3,700 on the east side of the Sierras near the Nevada border, holds an annual Mule Day Celebration on the Memorial Day weekend.

Last year 40,000 spectators showed up, mostly to watch the parade in which 400 to 450 mules moved through town mostly frontwards — but sometimes backwards and sometimes sideways.

Bishop mule promoter Robert Tanner says, "Mule racing is pretty exciting in that it is a little unpredictable."

Assemblyman Larry Chimbole, D-Palmdale, was persuaded to introduce a bill in the state legislature last week that would allow experimental parimutuel mule racing for five years, starting in 1978.

Mules are the offspring of male donkeys and female horses.

Officers investigate
two minor accidents

Two minor traffic accidents were reported by area law enforcement agencies Monday. There were no injuries reported.

At 8:30 a.m. Monday, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department investigated a single-car mishap on Interstate 71.

A car driven by Helen T. Eller, 26, of Columbus, reportedly slid on ice in the northbound lane of I-71 and struck an overpass bridge.

Blanchester man may win freedom

CINCINNATI (AP) — Larry C. Florea, the Blanchester, Ohio, mechanic who was back in uniform after claiming the U.S. Army lost his records for 6½ years "could very well" get an honorable discharge without a court martial, an Army spokesman said.

"The average guy that has been gone 6½ years doesn't have a defense," said Maj. Jerry Gantt, a Fort Knox information officer said by telephone. But, he said, "this man has got a defense. He could very well get an honorable discharge."

Florea, 26, father of three, said he applied for a discharge to be eligible for a Veterans Administration (VA) loan. He was told by the Defense Department to surrender to Wright Patterson AFB last Tuesday when he was arrested, transported to Fort Knox and held as a private on a charge of being absent without leave (AWOL).

Florea spurned a military offer of a discharge other than honorable even though he has since learned he did not have the required 180 days of active duty to be eligible for the VA loan.

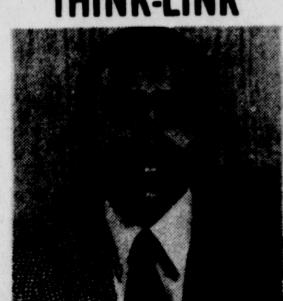

Florea, and his lawyer, Jerry Bryant, Wilmington, Ohio, maintain the Army lost Florea's records when he was transferred in 1971 to Fort Eustis, Va. Florea said he was sent home to await further orders and tried for 18 months to clarify his status. Finally, he quit trying, got married and went to work.

Gantt said Florea may be released later this week on leave without pay. He collected no military salary during the 6½ years he was home.

Bryant said he is gathering depositions from people who accompanied Florea when he made several trips to military installations trying to resolve his military status during 1970 and 1971.

The Army spokesman had said Florea had an obligation to resolve the issue long ago.

Municipal
Court

Four persons were found guilty of check fraud Monday in Washington C.H. Municipal Court. Judge John P. Case levied fines and jail sentences on all four.

James R. Hoover, 37, Bloomingburg, received a $30 fine and a 10-day jail term. Jerry Brady, 22, of 603 Elm St., was fined $20 and sentenced to 10 days in jail. Gregory M. Smith of Springfield was fined $30 and sentenced to 15 days in jail. Carol Arney, 26, Greenfield, was fined $20.

All the jail terms were suspended pending the payment of the bad checks.

Judge Case also fined Raymond H. Rinehart, 20, of 6813 Milledgeville-Octa Road, $30 and court costs, on a disorderly conduct by intoxication charge.

ADC rolls rise
during February

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Aid to Dependent Children welfare rolls in Ohio increased in February after dropping steadily for almost a year. Kweigir Aggrey, Ohio Department of Public Welfare director, reports.

Aggrey attributes the increase to severe weather conditions, the energy crisis and job lay-offs.

He says the total number of ADC recipients was 571,263 in February, compared to 567,103 in January. The rolls had been dropping since hitting a peak of 597,391 in March 1976.

will replace Dr. Robert Heiny of Washington C.H. on the board.

A one-year police protection contract was finalized by the commissioners with the village of Bloomingburg.

The village will receive regular patrols from Fayette County sheriff's deputies for $450 a year. The contract is a renewal of a similar contract between the county and the village last year.

Louisiana upsets Dole

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the returns came in from Louisiana on election night and Democrat Jimmy Carter carried the state, Sen. Robert Dole told friends the game was over for the Republican ticket.

Louisiana was one of the Deep South states the Republicans thought they could carry. And when they didn't, Dole knew that, come January, he'd still be a senator from Kansas rather than vice president.

Apparently the memory of that loss still haunts Dole.

Sen. J. Bennett Johnston of Louisiana was testifying before the Senate Agriculture Committee the other day about problems of rice growers in his state.

"Down in Louisiana," Johnston started to say.

Dole interrupted him:

"Oh, yes, Louisiana. I was down there a couple of times last year. I can't remember why, now. It's just as well."
